$68 Million, 6-Year Building Spending Urged

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Budget Committee Friday recommended a six-year, $68.5 million state capital construction program to be financed by a 3.2 mill special property tax levy.

Included in the vast program is $23 million in construction during the 1965-67 biennium, some $15.9 million of which would be undertaken at the University of Nebraska's three campuses.

Ticketed for construction at NU in the coming biennium are the key project in the institution's proposed program of excellence in the physical sciences and a new University Hospital in Omaha.

The University would receive some $47.6 million in construction funds over the six-year period.

The proposed 3.2 mill levy would replace the current 1.775 special building fund levy and the .25 mill special levy for construction at the College of Dentistry, resulting in an increased levy of 1.175 mills.

'Sense Of Direction'

Budget Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings told newsmen that the committee is proposing a six-year program tied to specific projects in an effort to provide state agencies with "some sense of legislative direction beyond the coming biennium" and to aid them in acquiring federal matching funds.

The 1965 Legislature cannot bind future legislatures to follow the program proposed beyond the 1965-67 biennium.

"We assume that future legislatures will review the program," Marvel noted.

Alternate To Bonds

In effect, the proposal for construction at the University is an alternative financing plan for LB826, the much-belabored bill to permit NU to finance construction through issuance of long-term revenue bonds backed by student tuition fees.

"We were faced with the difficulty of general non-acceptance of LB826," Budget Vice Chairman George Gerdes of Alliance explained, "and this is the policy we had to take."

LB826 faces serious constitutional questions, according to the attorney general's office.

In its first budget package for education, welfare and and public institutions, the committee included in the University's operating budget projected revenue from proposed increases in student tuition fees, thus tending to rule out tuition hikes to finance capital construction.

The capital construction bill, approved by the committee on a 6-1 vote, will be presented to the Legislature Monday, Marvel said. Figures were released to senators Friday afternoon.

Proposals Followed

Generally, committee recommendations on priorities within the construction program follow priorities proposed by the state agencies involved, Marvel said

Only significant departure in the University program involved a proposed new women's physical education building. NU placed it fourth in priority, on the downtown campus, while the committee moved it to eighth and proposed its construction during the 1967-69 biennium.

"Philosophically, the University's first priority was in the area of science," Marvel pointed out, "and the committee recognized the importance of a science complex."

Budgeted for 1965-67 would be $5.2 million for a chemistry science building. An additional $2.5 million in federal funds should be available for the facility, legislative fiscal analyst John Quigley noted.

Federal Funds Noted

All told, Quigley said, some $5 million in federal funds are potentially available during the coming biennium to supplement the $23 million state appropriation.

Some $2.5 million was budgeted for a new 200-bed hospital at the College of Medicine in Omaha. An additional $2.5 million is already available from the current biennium for that facility, Quigley said, and $1 million may be forthcoming in federal funds.

Among other significant construction projects at the University during the 1965-67 biennium would be $2.1 million for a classroom and office building on the downtown campus and $950,000 for an animal science building on the College of Agriculture campus.

Some $3,049,347 would be budgeted for construction at the four state colleges, including the $1,250,000 already appropriated to complete a science building at Kearney.

The Department of Public Institutions would receive $2.4 million; the Department of Education would be budgeted $1.1 million, including $720,486 for construction at the School for the Deaf.

Among future major projects are a $1 million science building at Chadron State College in 1969-71; a $1,250,000 science building at Wayne State College in 1967-69; a $1,250,000 fine arts building at Kearney State College in 1967-69, a $770,000 ward building complex for 120 patients at the Beatrice State Home in 1967-69, and a $600,000 dormitory complex for 200 inmates at the Penal and Correctional Complex in 1969-71.

Some $88,000 is budgeted for the coming biennium at the complex for replacement of deteriorating walls.

Marvel said the committee will next move to the process of preparing its recommendations on a proposed new state office building.

WAR CRITICISM HIT

City-County Building Is Discussed

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council and the Lancaster County Commissioners met in joint session with architects Friday in an effort to speed up action on the $5 million city-county building approved by voters April 6.

Another meeting in about two weeks was scheduled to review general programming and building design presented by the architectural firms Clark and Enersen and Hemphill and Vierk.

At that meeting the joint committee will attempt to reach a concensus on general plans for the building, an area in which both council members and commissioners said there has been a lot of general agreement so far.

Also discussed was the formation of a two or four-man planning liaison team between architects and the two governing bodies. The group would work out specific details in the planning of the building and present them to the whole committee for its approval.

The entire council and county board will work with architects, however, until agreement on the general design and plans has been reached.

Friday's session produced:

—A go-ahead for drawing up a contract for purchase of county property by the city.

—A discussion on whether or not to apply for federal matching funds for civil defense facilities in the new building.

—Preliminary plans to vacate J Street, but not close it until the appropriate time

It was agreed that the county would sell that part of the land that the city's portion of the building would be constructed on and contract to sell the rest of the city's half of the property when the courthouse is torn down.

Reds Hint U.S. Put Out Zambia 'Stooge' Pamphlet

Lusaka, Zambia (AP) — The Communist Chinese embassy Friday made veiled accusations that the United States circulated a pamphlet calling President Kenneth Kaunda and other leaders "imperialist stooges."

Kaunda has said he was asking the Chinese if this pamphlet was official policy. An embassy spokesman hinted that the pamphlet — which urged a revolutionary takeover "for the people" — was put out by the United States to discredit Red China.

Observers said the government is not impressed with the Chinese explanations.

Rusk Wonders At Gullibility

. . . OF EDUCATED MEN

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk charged critics of U.S. policy in the Vietnamese war Friday night with talking "nonsense about the nature of the struggle." He said the security of the United States itself is ultimately at stake in defeating Communist aggression.

"I sometimes wonder," Rusk said, "at the gullibility of educated men in the stubborn disregard of plain facts by men who are supposed to be helping our young to learn—especially how to learn how to think."

Nixes Bomb Pause

In a speech to an American Society of International Law meeting, Rusk did not designate any critics by name. But among the proposals he rejected were those for a pause in bombing North Viet Nam without requiring that the Communist side stop attacks in the south.

The main point of Rusk's attack on administration critics, however, was that the Communist drive for conquest of South Viet Nam is an aggression supplied and directed from North Viet Nam and not primarily an internal South Vietnamese revolution.

"Our assistance (to South Viet Nam) has been increased," Rusk said, "because the aggression from the north has been agumented.

"When that aggression ceases, collective measures and defense against it will cease."

Red Aim Same

He declared that although Russia and Communist China quarrel over the best means of promoting communism throughout the world, both are devoted to the objective of eventual worldwide Communist rule.

"Once again," Rusk said, "we hear expressed the views which cost the men of my generation a terrible price in World War II.

"We are told that Southeast Asia is far away—but so were Manchuria and Ethiopia. We are told that if we insist that someone stop shooting that is asking them for unconditional surrender.

One More Bite

"We are told that perhaps the aggressor will be content with just one more bite. We are told that if we prove faithless on one commitment that perhaps others would believe us about other commitments in other places. We are told that if we stop resisting that perhaps the other side will have a change of heart.

"We were asked to stop hitting bridges and radar sites and ammunition depots without requiring that the other side stop its slaughter of thousands of civilians and its bombings of schools and hotels and hospitals and railways and buses.

"Surely we have learned over the past three decades that the acceptance of aggression leads only to a sure catastrophe. Surely we have learned that the aggressor must face the consequences of his action and be saved from the frightful miscalculation that brings all to ruin. It is the purpose of law to guide men away from such events, to establish rules of conduct which are deeply rooted in the reality of experience."

To Meet Test

Rusk said he agrees with Gen. Giap, North Vietnamese military leader, and with other Communist strategists that the struggle in Viet Nam is a test case for what the Communists call "wars of national liberation," and he added emphatically: "We intend to meet that test."

Rusk's reply to critics appeared to reflect the concern which administration officials are known to feel about mounting opposition in academic circles to the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

It was disclosed Friday that the State Department intends now to make maximum use of opportunities to send speakers to university campuses and to appear before groups interested in international affairs to discuss the war in Viet Nam.

Pearson, Shastri

Rusk made no mention of men such as Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada and Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India who have suggested that a pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam might encourage the Communists to enter into peace talks

Dr. King Thunders Message On Rainy Boston Common

Boston (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King thundered his civil rights message to rain-pelted thousands on the historic Boston Common Friday and said America "must not become a nation of onlookers" in the fight against segregation.

A police-estimated crowd of 18,000 jammed the Revolutionary War meeting ground as King spoke for 25 minutes. His speech, and those of other civil rights leaders who preceded him, climaxed a three-mile protest march from the predominantly Negro section of Roxbury.

The crowd was swelled by supporters from a score of eastern Massachusetts communities. Many traveled here by chartered buses.

Done With Segregation

"We march in Boston to tell Boston, and the rest of the nation, that we will no longer tolerate segregation which is a new form of slavery," King said. "We say we are through with segregation, now and forevermore."

King said he wanted to see freedom gained by "creative nonviolence" which could "transform some of our dark yesterdays into bright tomorrows."

One of his reasons for coming to Boston, King said, was that "our children have been told, so often, that 'You do not count, you are nobody.' I come to Boston to tell you, you are somebody."

King spoke in a city where Negroes form about nine per cent of the population. The latest available federal census figures show a total population of 697,197, of whom 628,704 are white and 63,165 Negro.

Massacre Victim

Not far away from the Parkman bandstand where King addressed the throng is a monument to the Negro Crispus Attucks who died in 1770 when British troops fired on a crowd that had surrounded them. The event has become known to history as the Boston Massacre. Negro groups annualy place a wreath at the monument.

"The universal vision of freedom and equality must extend from Boston to Roxbury and to every child in every school," King continued. "Boston must become a testing ground for the ideals of freedom."

King said he was impressed by being welcomed to Boston by Gov. John A. Volpe, who was unable to atend Friday's activities because he was shaken up in the forced landing of a helicopter earlier this week.

"It is not always easy for me to see the governors of some of our states," King said. "In fact, I have not seen Gov. (George) Wallace (of Alabama) yet."

Committee Kills Bill To Change Pardon Board

A bill proposing a revision in the makeup of the State Board of Pardons was killed on a 5-2 vote of the Legislature's Government Committee Friday.

The bill, LB573, introduced chiefly by Lincoln Sen. John Knight, would have submitted to voters next year a constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to create a Board of Pardons.

The governor, secretary of state and attorney general comprise the board. Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer and Secretary of State Frank Marsh supported the bill along with bar association and welfare groups at a public hearing Thursday. No one opposed it.

In other action, the committee advanced Papillion Sen. Dale Payne's LB70, permitting to nominate candidates for public offices.

Presently, only Lincoln and Omaha have primary elections, with candidates for offices in other communities nominated by party caucus or petition.

The committee killed Lincoln Sen. Hal W. Bauer's LB893 which would have repealed the requirement that voters must have lived 10 days in the precinct, township or ward.

Bills advanced included:

LB476—Giving military forces in control of convoys the right of way on streets and exemption from local and state traffic regulations.

LB71—Allowing county treasurers to appoint agents approved by respective county boards to issue registration certificates and collect motor vehicle taxes.

LB[illegible]—Increasing from $500 to $1,000 the maximum purchase which counties can make without taking sealed bids.

$68 Million, 6-Year Building Spending Urged

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Budget Committee Friday recommended a six-year, $68.5 million state capital construction program to be financed by a 3.2 mill special property tax levy.

Included in the vast program is $23 million in construction during the 1965-67 biennium, some $15.9 million of which would be undertaken at the University of Nebraska's three campuses.

Ticketed for construction at NU in the coming biennium are the key project in the institution's proposed program of excellence in the physical sciences and a new University Hospital in Omaha.

The University would receive some $47.6 million in construction funds over the six-year period.

The proposed 3.2 mill levy would replace the current 1.775 special building fund levy and the .25 mill special levy for construction at the College of Dentistry, resulting in an increased levy of 1.175 mills.

'Sense Of Direction'

Budget Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings told newsmen that the committee is proposing a six-year program tied to specific projects in an effort to provide state agencies with "some sense of legislative direction beyond the coming biennium" and to aid them in acquiring federal matching funds.

The 1965 Legislature cannot bind future legislatures to follow the program proposed beyond the 1965-67 biennium.

"We assume that future legislatures will review the program," Marvel noted.

Alternate To Bonds

In effect, the proposal for construction at the University is an alternative financing plan for LB826, the much-belabored bill to permit NU to finance construction through issuance of long-term revenue bonds backed by student tuition fees.

"We were faced with the difficulty of general non-acceptance of LB826," Budget Vice Chairman George Gerdes of Alliance explained, "and this is the policy we had to take."

LB826 faces serious constitutional questions, according to the attorney general's office.

In its first budget package for education, welfare and and public institutions, the committee included in the University's operating budget projected revenue from proposed increases in student tuition fees, thus tending to rule out tuition hikes to finance capital construction.

The capital construction bill, approved by the committee on a 6-1 vote, will be presented to the Legislature Monday, Marvel said. Figures were released to senators Friday afternoon.

Proposals Followed

Generally, committee recommendations on priorities within the construction program follow priorities proposed by the state agencies involved, Marvel said.

Only significant departure in the University program involved a proposed new women's physical education building. NU placed it fourth in priority, on the downtown campus, while the committee moved it to eighth and proposed its construction during the 1967-69 biennium.

"Philosophically, the University's first priority was in the area of science," Marvel pointed out, "and the committee recognized the importance of a science complex."

Budgeted for 1965-67 would be $5.2 million for a chemistry science building. An additional $2.5 million in federal funds should be available for the facility, legislative fiscal analyst John Quigley noted.

Federal Funds Noted

All told, Quigley said, some $5 million in federal funds are potentially available during the coming biennium to supplement the $23 million state appropriation.

Some $2.5 million was budgeted for a new 200-bed hospital at the College of Medicine in Omaha. An additional $2.5 million is already available from the current biennium for that facility, Quigley said, and $1 million may be forthcoming in federal funds.

Among other significant construction projects at the University during the 1965-67 biennium would be $2.1 million for a classroom and office building on the downtown campus and $950,000 for an animal science building on the College of Agriculture campus.

Some $3,049,347 would be budgeted for construction at the four state colleges, including the $1,250,000 already appropriated to complete a science building at Kearney.

The Department of Public Institutions would receive $2.4 million; the Department of Education would be budgeted $1.1 million, including $720,486 for construction at the School for the Deaf.

Among future major projects are a $1 million science building at Chadron State College in 1969-71; a $1,250,000 science building at Wayne State College in 1967-69; a $1,250,000 fine arts building at Kearney State College in 1967-69; a $770,000 ward building complex for 120 patients at the Beatrice State Home in 1967-69, and a $600,000 dormitory complex for 200 inmates at the Penal and Correctional Complex in 1969-71.

Some $88,000 is budgeted for the coming biennium at the complex for replacement of deteriorating walls.

Marvel said the committee will next move to the process of preparing its recommendations on a proposed new state office building.

WAR CRITICISM HIT

City-County Building Is Discussed

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council and the Lancaster County Commissioners met in joint session with architects Friday in an effort to speed up action on the $5 million city-county building approved by voters April 6.

Another meeting in about two weeks was scheduled to review general programming and building design presented by the architectural firms Clark and Enersen and Hemphill and Vierk.

At that meeting the joint committee will attempt to reach a concensus on general plans for the building, an area in which both council members and commissioners said there has been a lot of general agreement so far.

Also discussed was the formation of a two or four-man planning liaison team between architects and the two governing bodies. The group would work out specific details in the planning of the building and present them to the whole committee for its approval.

The entire council and county board will work with architects, however, until agreement on the general design and plans has been reached.

Friday's session produced:

—A go-ahead for drawing up a contract for purchase of county property by the city.

—A discussion on whether or not to apply for federal matching funds for civil defense facilities in the new building.

—Preliminary plans to vacate J Street, but not close it until the appropriate time.

It was agreed that the county would sell that part of the land that the city's portion of the building would be constructed on and contract to sell the rest of the city's half of the property when the courthouse is torn down.

WATER OFFICE WATERLESS

When the St. Louis Water Division's engineering office lost its water supply, it had to send out men with buckets to bring some in. It took several hours to fix the trouble's cause, a main leaking nearby.

Rusk Wonders At Gullibility

. . . OF EDUCATED MEN

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk charged critics of U.S. policy in the Vietnamese war Friday night with talking "nonsense about the nature of the struggle." He said the security of the United States itself is ultimately at stake in defeating Communist aggression.

"I sometimes wonder," Rusk said, "at the gullibility of educated men in the stubborn disregard of plain facts by men who are supposed to be helping our young to learn—especially how to learn how to think."

Nixes Bomb Pause

In a speech to an American Society of International Law meeting, Rusk did not designate any critics by name. But among the proposals he rejected were those for a pause in bombing North Viet Nam without requiring that the Communist side stop attacks in the south.

The main point of Rusk's attack on administration critics, however, was that the Communist drive for conquest of South Viet Nam is an aggression supplied and directed from North Viet Nam and not primarily an internal South Vietnamese revolution.

"Our assistance (to South Viet Nam) has been increased," Rusk said, "because the aggression from the north has been agumented.

"When that aggression ceases, collective measures and defense against it will cease."

Red Aim Same

He declared that although Russia and Communist China quarrel over the best means of promoting communism throughout the world, both are devoted to the objective of eventual worldwide Communist rule.

"Once again," Rusk said, "we hear expressed the views which cost the men of my generation a terrible price in World War II.

"We are told that Southeast Asia is far away—but so were Manchuria and Ethiopia. We are told that if we insist that someone stop shooting that is asking them for unconditional surrender.

One More Bite

"We are told that perhaps the aggressor will be content with just one more bite. We are told that if we prove faithless on one commitment that perhaps others would believe us about other commitments in other places. We are told that if we stop resisting that perhaps the other side will have a change of heart.

"We were asked to stop hitting bridges and radar sites and ammunition depots without requiring that the other side stop its slaughter of thousands of civilians and its bombings of schools and hotels and hospitals and railways and buses.

"Surely we have learned over the past three decades that the acceptance of aggression leads only to a sure catastrophe. Surely we have learned that the aggressor must face the consequences of his action and be saved from the frightful miscalculation that brings all to ruin. It is the purpose of law to guide men away from such events, to establish rules of conduct which are deeply rooted in the reality of experience."

To Meet Test

Rusk said he agrees with Gen. Giap, North Vietnamese military leader, and with other Communist strategists that the struggle in Viet Nam is a test case for what the Communists call "wars of national liberation," and he added emphatically: "We intend to meet that test."

Rusk's reply to critics appeared to reflect the concern which administration officials are known to feel about mounting opposition in academic circles to the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

It was disclosed Friday that the State Department intends now to make maximum use of opportunities to send speakers to universiy campuses and to appear before groups interested in international affairs to discuss the war in Viet Nam.

Pearson, Shastri

Rusk made no mention of men such as Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada and Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India who have suggested that a pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam might encourage the Communists to enter into peace talks.

Dr. King Thunders Message On Rainy Boston Common

Boston (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King thundered his civil rights message to rain-pelted thousands on the historic Boston Common Friday and said America "must not become a nation of onlookers" in the fight against segregation.

A police-estimated crowd of 18,000 jammed the Revolutionary War meeting ground as King spoke for 25 minutes. His speech, and those of other civil rights leaders who preceded him, climaxed a three-mile protest march from the predominantly Negro section of Roxbury.

The crowd was swelled by supporters from a score of eastern Massachusetts communities. Many traveled here by chartered buses.

Done With Segregation

"We march in Boston to tell Boston, and the rest of the nation, that we will no longer tolerate segregation which is a new form of slavery," King said. "We say we are through with segregation, now and forevermore."

King said he wanted to see freedom gained by "creative nonviolence" which could "transform some of our dark yesterdays into bright tomorrows."

One of his reasons for coming to Boston, King said, was that "our children have been told, so often, that 'You do not count, you are nobody.' I come to Boston to tell you, you are somebody."

King spoke in a city where Negroes form about nine per cent of the population. The latest available federal census figures show a total population of 697,197, of whom 628,704 are white and 63,165 Negro.

Massacre Victim

Not far away from the Parkman bandstand where King addressed the throng is a monument to the Negro Crispus Attucks who died in 1770 when British troops fired on a crowd that had surrounded them. The event has become known to history as the Boston Massacre. Negro groups annualy place a wreath at the monument.

"The universal vision of freedom and equality must extend from Boston to Roxbury and to every child in every school," King continued. "Boston must become a testing ground for the ideals of freedom."

King said he was impressed by being welcomed to Boston by Gov. John A. Volpe, who was unable to atend Friday's activities because he was shaken up in the forced landing of a helicopter earlier this week.

"It is not always easy for me to see the governors of some of our states," King said. "In fact, I have not seen Gov. (George) Wallace (of Alabama) yet."

Reds Hint U.S. Put Out Zambia 'Stooge' Pamphlet

Lusaka, Zambia (AP) — The Communist Chinese embassy Friday made veiled accusations that the United States circulated a pamphlet calling President Kenneth Kaunda and other leaders "imperialist stooges."

Kaunda has said he was asking the Chinese if this pamphlet was official policy. An embassy spokesman hinted that the pamphlet — which urged a revolutionary takeover "for the people" — was put out by the United States to discredit Red China.

Observers said the government is not impressed with the Chinese explanations.

Committee Kills Bill To Change Pardon Board

A bill proposing a revision in the makeup of the State Board of Pardons was killed on a 5-2 vote of the Legislature's Government Committee Friday.

The bill, LB573, introduced chiefly by Lincoln Sen. John Knight, would have submitted to voters next year a constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to create a Board of Pardons.

The governor, secretary of state and attorney general comprise the board. Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer and Secretary of State Frank Marsh supported the bill along with bar association and welfare groups at a public hearing Thursday. No one opposed it.

In other action, the committee advanced Papillion Sen. Dale Payne's LB70, permitting to nominate candidates for public offices.

Presently, only Lincoln and Omaha have primary elections, with candidates for offices in other communities nominated by party caucus or petition.

The committee killed Lincoln Sen. Hal W. Bauer's LB803, which would have repealed the requirement that voters must have lived 10 days in the precinct, township or ward.

Bills advanced included:

LB476—Giving military forces in control of convoys the right of way on streets and exemption from local and state traffic regulations.

LB71—Allowing county treasurers to appoint agents approved by respective county boards to issue registration certificates and collect motor vehicle taxes.

LB262—Increasing from $500 to $1,000 the maximum purchase which counties can make without taking sealed bids.

Key Commie Spans Bombed

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) More than 200 warplanes blasted North Viet Nam's transportation lines Friday in an operation described as the most destructive of its type to date. Spokesmen said six bridges and two ferries were destroyed.

Numerically the raids were the most massive since 220 U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots teamed up in an attack April 9.

Squadrons of South Vietnamese fighter-bombers took part with about 200 American planes. Briefing officers said all returned safely.

South of the border, five Americans died in isolated operations. That boosted to 477 the roll of U.S. dead from all causes in the Vietnamese war.

Three frogmen — sailors or Marines — were killed in coastal waters 340 miles northeast of Saigon. No details were announced, but they possibly were victims of an accidental explosion.

A U.S. Special Forces officer was shot dead in a skirmish with Viet Cong guerrillas 150 miles west of Saigon near the Cambodian frontier.

The crash of a light observation plane killed a U.S. Air Force pilot Thursday at Phu Cat, 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

The aerial armada poured rockets, bombs and Bullpup guided missiles on North Vietnamese targets, some damaged in previous raids.

A U.S. military spokesman said bridges were destroyed at Ly Nhan, 110 miles south of Hanoi; Phuoc Thien, 120 miles south of Hanoi; Xom Gia, 150 miles south of Hanoi; two at Pho Son, also about 150 miles south of Hanoi, and Som Phuong, just north of the border.

U.S. Air Force planes were reported to have destroyed a river ferry at Phu Qui, 120 miles southwest of Hanoi.

The Vietnamese air force said two of its squadrons sank the only ferry boat at Xuan Son, described as a Gianm River crossing point for southbound Communist forces. The squadrons also were declared to have leveled a "major military position" six miles southwest of Quang Khe, itself 60 miles north of the border.

Several of the wrecked bridges were key spans across wide rivers. One of the Pho Son bridges was 360 feet long. The major section of the Som Phuong bridge totaled 320 feet.

Viet Cong Delegation In Moscow

Moscow (AP) — A South Vietnamese rebel delegation was greeted Friday with a kiss from the Chinese ambassador and a Soviet promise to fight at the side of the Viet Cong if necessary.

But visiting Premier Mohammed Yousef of Afghanistan seemed unimpressed. He emerged from secret talks at the Kremlin with a renewed appeal for unconditional peace talks on Viet Nam—just what President Johnson has urged.

The leader of the five-member delegation from the pro-Communist National Liberation Front, Dang Quang Minh, served notice that it rejected Johnson's offer. The group arrived to set up a permanent mission here.

The Soviet Union meanwhile renewed its call for a 14-nation Geneva conference to take up Cambodia's charges of border violations by neighboring South Viet Nam.

Such a gathering could be used for informal peace talks on Viet Nam. The United States, the Soviet Union and China all guaranteed results of the 1954 conference at Geneva that created the new states out of former French Indochina.

VIET WAR STRAINS 'WIDEN RED SPLIT'

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington (AP)—U. S. officials saw some signs Friday that the growing strains and dangers of the war in Viet Nam are widening the split between Russia and Red China—instead of pushing them into a tighter common front against the United States.

The situation is similar in some respects to the growing rift between the United States and France over the Southeast Asian war. An important difference seems to be, however, that the Western allies, being loosely organized in the first place, seem more able to tolerate disagreement than can the Communists, who have a dogmatic devotion to a need for unity.

The worsening of U.S.-French relations arises directly from the action of President Charles de Gaulle in reducing French participation in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Some days ago he sent word France would be represented at the SEATO meeting in London next month only by an observer instead of by Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. Friday Paris disclosed De Gaulle is pulling out of SEATO naval exercises in the Pacific.

De Gaulle's purpose possibly is to clear the way for a joint Vietnamese peace effort with the Soviet Union. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is due in Paris next week, and his scheduled trip helps to dramatize the dilemma in which the Soviet government finds itself on the Vietnamese war and the conflict with Communist China.

The latest maneuver in the Sino-Soviet quarrel came in Moscow Thursday and was focused on a new unity appeal from Russia to Red China.

But the effect of a speech made by Russia's ideological boss, Pyotor N. Demichev, in a Kremlin ceremony was to put new blame on the Chinese Reds for refusing to follow Moscow's lead in the Communist search for unity.

Thus the real thrust of the speech seems to have been a muted accusation by Moscow that the Chinese Communists by their behavior are making unity impossible.

"Those who prevent our cohesion assume serious responsibility before history," said Demichev. His speech was received in Washington overnight and was getting careful study Friday. He argued that reduction of Moscow-Peking differences is important at this time to increase Communist effectiveness in Viet Nam. And he denied there is in fact any kind of dilemma for the Soviet Union in the Vietnamese situation.

He said that some people—obviously meaning the United States and Red China — say the Soviet Union is in a dilemma, then added:

"In fact there is no such dilemma. The policy for peaceful coexistence does not preclude, but presupposes, a rebuff to aggression and support for peoples fighting against alien domination."

In practical terms this definition of established Soviet policy is taken here to mean the Soviet Union would like to support North Viet Nam to the extent necessary to produce Communist victory in Southeast Asia but limit its support to such actions as would not bring on large-scale war between the Communist powers and the United States.

Peking Talks Risky

By contrast the Chinese Communists talk in much riskier terms than the Soviet Union. But they justify their advocacy of all-out support for North Viet Nam on the grounds that the United States is a paper tiger and will not itself take serious risk of a major Asian war.

In the contest between Moscow and Peking over which is more devoted to the Communist war of revolution, the Soviets are likely to be outbid by the Chinese who have fewer world responsibilities in their assessment of U.S. power and policy. Moscow's experience in the confrontation over Cuba in 1962 could have made a critical difference in this respect.

Mediator Shuttling In Steel Tiff

Pittsburgh (AP)—The federal government's chief labor negotiator shuttled between union and management Friday in a flurry of meetings to stave off a May 1 steel strike.

William E. Simkin conferred twice with industry negotiathe United Steelworkers and twcie with industry negotiators. He also called separate night meetings with both sides.

Simkin, director of the Mediation and Conciliation Service, said the meetings "were strictly in the exploratory stage," but his activity indicated he wants something done in a hurry. He said he made no recommendations.

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha failed Friday in efforts to revive a committee-killed bill requiring the statewide licensing of electricians.

After an hour of debate, the revival motion drew 20-16 favor but needed 25 affirmative votes to carry.

The measure, LB605, had been killed on a 5-2 vote of the Public Health Committee.

The bill would have created a state electrical division and board within the state fire marshal's office, and would have set standards to be met by electrical contractors and journeymen electricians.

The bill would not have prevented a person from doing his own house wiring where such practice is not prohibited by local ordinances.

Most cities and many towns require that wiring be done only by licensed electricians.

The measure drew no opposition at its public hearing, but the Public Health Committee decided it would not promote public safety in the manner that its promoters claimed.

Southeast Senior Is Essay Winner

Robert Tucker, a Lincoln Southeast High School senior, Friday was presented the first-place award in the essay contest sponsored by the Governor's Committee on the Employment of the Handicapped.

Gov. Frank Morrison presented Tucker a certificate and a check donated by the State AFL-CIO for an all-expense trip to Washington, D.C.

The essay subject was "How The Handicapped Are Overcoming Barriers To Employment In My Community."

Second-place award, a $200 Nebraska Wesleyan University scholarship, went to another Lincoln Southeast High senior, Nancy Hardin.

Other winners were Pam Timmerman, Omaha North senior, third place and $100, and Suzie Dahl, Lincoln Northeast, and Walter Warnsholz, Lincoln High, each $50.

Arabs Shower Abuse On Tunisian President

Cairo (AP) - "Bourguiba has gone mad."

That editorial comment by the Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar set the tone Friday for a shower of Arab abuse heaped on President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia for proposing Arab-Israeli negotiations.

The Beirut Lebanon, newspaper Al Moharrer said the proposal "constituted high treason" and that "a man executed for selling military secrets to the enemy deserves more mercy" than Bourguiba.

Israel Noncommittal

An Israeli foreign office spokesman said in Jerusalem any comment would have to wait until the government saw a full report of what Bourguiba said in an address Wednesday to a group of students in Tunis.

The spokesman added it always has been Israel's attitude that its government representatives are willing to sit with Arab leaders at any time to talk peace.

Bourguiba proposed that Israel and the Arab states begin exploratory talks to end their long-standing war. He said the repatriation of Arab refugees from Palestine to a special area of Israel should be a basis of discussions with the Israeli government.

Any Arab attack on Israel, Bourguiba said, was doomed to failure. He also criticized the arms race in the Middle East.

'Anti-Arab Plot'

Cairo's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram, which often speaks for President Gamal Abdel Nasser, said Bourguiba's proposal was a conspiracy planned against the Arabs by Western imperialists.

It said the United Arab Republic would boycott Arab summit conferences unless the conference of Arab premiers in Cairo next month takes a clear stand against the Tunisian president's statements.

It was the second time Bourguiba was widely attacked by his fellow Arabs. Last month he urged other Arab states not to break relations with West Grmany because of Bonn's plans to recognize Israel, recognition that is now imminent. Then Algeria and Morocco sided with him.

DAVID L. MALONE

Drifter Charged In Cathedral Bombing

New York (AP) — A drifter with a persecution complex and an asylum background was formally charged Friday with sacrilegious fire bombing of the main altar of St. Patrick's Cathedral. A woman worshiper was injured in the explosion.

The man, David L. Malone, 25, a homeless, jobless, hotel handyman, stared at the ceiling as Criminal Court Judge Reuben Levy declared:

"Crime wears a familiar face in this court. Nevertheless, this charge is shocking almost beyond belief. The act is plainly the product of a twisted mind. The defendant is committed for observation."

Earlier, Malone had been quoted by police as admitting the bombing and telling them: "I'm sorry. I'm confused. I was never baptized. I have no faith in God. People have been persecuting me . . . I was just angry at the world."

The fire bomb was a bottle of gasoline with a wick, known as a Molotov cocktail.

The bomb was hurled from a fourth row pew of the Fifth Avenue Roman Catholic cathedral Thursday evening.

The injured woman was Mrs. Emma Reyes, 47, whose clothing was set afire. She was burned about the legs and hands.

Empty Chair Policy French SEATO Line

Paris (AP) - France served notice Friday it intends to adopt an empty chair policy in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, a Pacific counterpart of the Atlantic Alliance.

Authorized government sources announced no French warships will take part in naval maneuvers of the eight-nation alliance opening in the South China Sea May 1.

The French decision to stand aside from the maneuvers, dubbed Sea Horse, followed by only three days an announcement that France will send an observer rather than a ministerial representative to a meeting of the SEATO foreign ministers in London May 3.

The French moves appear clearly to underline President Charles de Gaulle's objection to U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

But highly placed French government sources said that, as of now, France has no intention of formally withdrawing from SEATO.

Instead, they said, France intends to pursue the empty chair policy—not taking part physically in alliance activities, but still technically remaining a member.

The others are the United States, Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

Key Commie Spans Bombed

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—More than 200 warplanes blasted North Viet Nam's transportation lines Friday in an operation described as the most destructive of its type to date. Spokesmen said six bridges and two ferries were destroyed.

Numerically the raids were the most massive since 220 U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots teamed up in an attack April 9.

Squadrons of South Vietnamese fighter-bombers took part with about 200 American planes. Briefing officers said all returned safely.

South of the border, five Americans died in isolated operations. That boosted to 477 the roll of U.S. dead from all causes in the Vietnamese war.

Three frogmen — sailors or Marines — were killed in coastal waters 340 miles northeast of Saigon. No details were announced, but they possibly were victims of an accidental explosion.

A U.S. Special Forces officer was shot dead in a skirmish with Viet Cong guerrillas 150 miles west of Saigon near the Cambodian frontier.

The crash of a light observation plane killed a U.S. Air Force pilot Thursday at Phu Cat, 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

The aerial armada poured rockets, bombs and Bullpup guided missiles on North Vietnamese targets, some damaged in previous raids.

A U.S. military spokesman said bridges were destroyed at Ly Nhan, 110 miles south of Hanoi; Phuoc Thien, 120 miles south of Hanoi; Xom Gia, 150 miles south of Hanoi; two at Pho Son, also about 150 miles south of Hanoi, and Som Phuong, just north of the border.

U.S. Air Force planes were reported to have destroyed a river ferry at Phu Qui, 120 miles southwest of Hanoi.

The Vietnamese air force said two of its squadrons sank the only ferry boat at Xuan Son, described as a Gianm River crossing point for southbound Communist forces. The squadrons also were declared to have leveled a "major military position" six miles southwest of Quang Khe, itself 60 miles north of the border.

Several of the wrecked bridges were key spans across wide rivers. One of the Pho Son bridges was 360 feet long. The major section of the Som Phuong bridge totaled 320 feet.

Viet Cong Delegation In Moscow

Moscow (AP) — A South Vietnamese rebel delegation was greeted Friday with a kiss from the Chinese ambassador and a Soviet promise to fight at the side of the Viet Cong if necessary.

But visiting Premier Mohammed Yousef of Afghanistan seemed unimpressed. He emerged from secret talks at the Kremlin with a renewed appeal for unconditional peace talks on Viet Nam—just what President Johnson has urged.

The leader of the five-member delegation from the pro-Communist National Liberation Front, Dang Quang Minh, served notice that it rejected Johnson's offer. The group arrived to set up a permanent mission here.

The Soviet Union meanwhile renewed its call for a 14-nation Geneva conference to take up Cambodia's charges of border violations by neighboring South Viet Nam.

Such a gathering could be used for informal peace talks on Viet Nam. The United States, the Soviet Union and China all guaranteed results of the 1954 conference at Geneva that created the new states out of former French Indochina.

VIET WAR STRAINS 'WIDEN RED SPLIT'

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington (AP)—U. S. officials saw some signs Friday that the growing strains and dangers of the war in Viet Nam are widening the split between Russia and Red China—instead of pushing them into a tighter common front against the United States.

The situation is similar in some respects to the growing rift between the United States and France over the Southeast Asian war. An important difference seems to be, however, that the Western allies, being loosely organized in the first place, seem more able to tolerate disagreement than can the Communists, who have a dogmatic devotion to a need for unity.

The worsening of U.S.-French relations arises directly from the action of President Charles de Gaulle in reducing French participation in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Some days ago he sent word France would be represented at the SEATO meeting in London next month only by an observer instead of by Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. Friday Paris disclosed De Gaulle is pulling out of SEATO naval exercises in the Pacific.

De Gaulle's purpose possibly is to clear the way for a joint Vietnamese peace effort with the Soviet Union. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is due in Paris next week, and his scheduled trip helps to dramatize the dilemma in which the Soviet government finds itself on the Vietnamese war and the conflict with Communist China.

The latest maneuver in the Sino-Soviet quarrel came in Moscow Thursday and was focused on a new unity appeal from Russia to Red China.

But the effect of a speech made by Russia's ideological boss, Pyotor N. Demichev, in a Kremlin ceremony was to put new blame on the Chinese Reds for refusing to follow Moscow's lead in the Communist search for unity.

Thus the real thrust of the speech seems to have been a muted accusation by Moscow that the Chinese Communists by their behavior are making unity impossible.

"Those who prevent our cohesion assume serious responsibility before history," said Demichev. His speech was received in Washington overnight and was getting careful study Friday. He argued that reduction of Moscow-Peking differences is important at this time to increase Communist effectiveness in Viet Nam. And he denied there is in fact any kind of dilemma for the Soviet Union in the Vietnamese situation.

He said that some people—obviously meaning the United States and Red China — say the Soviet Union is in a dilemma, then added:

"In fact there is no such dilemma. The policy for peaceful coexistence does not preclude, but presupposes, a rebuff to aggression and support for peoples fighting against alien domination."

In practical terms this definition of established Soviet policy is taken here to mean the Soviet Union would like to support North Viet Nam to the extent necessary to produce Communist victory in Southeast Asia but limit its support to such actions as would not bring on large-scale war between the Communist powers and the United States.

Peking Talks Risky

By contrast the Chinese Communists talk in much riskier terms than the Soviet Union. But they justify their advocacy of all-out support for North Viet Nam on the grounds that the United States is a paper tiger and will not itself take serious risk of a major Asian war.

In the contest between Moscow and Peking over which is more devoted to the Communist war of revolution, the Soviets are likely to be outbid by the Chinese who have fewer world responsibilities in their assessment of U.S. power and policy. Moscow's experience in the confrontation over Cuba in 1962 could have made a critical difference in this respect.

Mediator Shuttling In Steel Tiff

Pittsburgh (AP)—The federal government's chief labor negotiator shuttled between union and management Friday in a flurry of meetings to stave off a May 1 steel strike.

William E. Simkin conferred twice with industry negotia- the United Steelworkers and twcie with industry negotiators. He also called separate night meetings with both sides.

Simkin, director of the Mediation and Conciliation Service, said the meetings "were strictly in the exploratory stage," but his activity indicated he wants something done in a hurry. He said he made no recommendations.

The mediator said he has taken control of the situation "in the sense that I will arrange the meetings," referring to top-level negotiations now in indefinite recess.

Proposal Letting Cities Suspend More Is Axed

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Friday after a public hearing killed a bill which would have permitted driver license supensions for all driving violations under city ordinances for which state law provides for driver license suspension.

LB729, introduced chiefly by Lincoln Sen. John Knight, died on a 5-2 vote.

Lincoln City Attorney Ralph Nelson spoke in favor of the bill, saying that the city has no authority to revoke a state license unless the state grants it the authority to do so.

Nelson said judges can suspend driver licenses now only for city violations of drunk driving, driving under suspended license and driving to endanger life, limb, person or property.

He said city suspensions should be allowed for all traffic violations for which licenses can be suspended under state law.

No one appeared in opposition to the bill.

The committee killed a previously heard bill, LB290, by a 6-0 vote.

It provided that power companies would file applications with the State Railway Commission after completion of power line extensions over railraod lines, instead of before the extension was made.

A motion to advance LB746 to the floor received four of six votes, but five is needed for action.

It would exempt motor vehicles used by weed districts from the payment of registration fees.

Primary Bill Misses Okay By One Vote

A bill designed to give Nebraska an "all star" presidential preference primary lacked one vote of receiving the approval of the Legislature's Government Committee Friday.

A motion to advance the measure, LB164, generated four favorable votes, with five votes needed. One committee member voted against advancement and two did not vote. The eighth member was absent.

The committee amended the bill to provide that two delegates, instead of three, shall be elected from each congressional district for the national party conventions. The remainder would be elected on an at-large basis in the primaries.

Under the all-star primary provision, anyone deemed by the secretary of state to be a recognized prospect for a presidential nomination would be placed on the ballot, as would persons nominated by petition.

That segment of the bill received unanimous support at a public hearing Thursday but top Republican party officials protested the provision relating to choosing convention delegates.

Presently, convention delegates-at-large are elected at the state party conventions.

Morrison Invites Job Corps Head To Discuss Base

Governor Morrison said Friday he has asked the head of the federal Job Corps to meet with him next month to discuss possible future uses for the Lincoln Air Force Base.

The base is scheduled to be deactivated by June of next year.

Morrison said Otis Singletery, who now heads the Job Corps, was formerly a principle in the North Carolina "industrial triangle" which developed research projects through private industry in cooperation with three universities. Singletery was president of the University of North Carolina.

Morrison said he wanted information on chances for "industrial utilization" of the base.

"I don't know what the ultimate use of the base will be," he said, "but if it is foreclosed for any possible military establishment I'm determined it should be used for expanding our employment opportunities."

'Restraining Order' To Block School Bond Vote Denied

Columbus (AP)—Platte County District Judge C. Thomas White Friday denied a temporary restraining order to block a $202,000 school bond election scheduled in Humphrey next Tuesday.

The judge did not act on two other portions of a petition submitted by a group of 12 Humphrey residents who sought to stop the election.

The election will be the eighth held by the Humphrey school board in an attempt to finance a new public high school. Voters rejected the issue the other seven times.

The protestors alleged that the issue had been previously defeated and the costs involved were unwarranted. The board, however, had more than enough signatures on petitions to hold the new election.

The judge denied the restraining order, but pointed out that the issue of validity of the bonds should the issue carry and the question as to the possibility of holding another election soon should it be defeated were still before the court.

Proposal Letting Cities Suspend More Is Axed

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Friday after a public hearing killed a bill which would have permitted driver license supensions for all driving violations under city ordinances for which state law provides for driver license suspension.

LB729, introduced chiefly by Lincoln Sen. John Knight, died on a 5-2 vote.

Lincoln City Attorney Ralph Nelson spoke in favor of the bill, saying that the city has no authority to revoke a state license unless the state grants it the authority to do so.

Nelson said judges can suspend driver licenses now only for city violations of drunk driving, driving under suspended license and driving to endanger life, limb, person or property.

He said city suspensions should be allowed for all traffic violations for which licenses can be suspended under state law.

No one appeared in opposition to the bill.

The committee killed a previously heard bill, LB290, by a 6-0 vote.

It provided that power companies would file applications with the State Railway Commission after completion of power line extensions over railraod lines, instead of before the extension was made.

A motion to advance LB746 to the floor received four of six votes, but five is needed for action.

It would exempt motor vehicles used by weed districts from the payment of registration fees.

Consumers' '64 Revenues Set Record

. . . 5.8% over '63

Columbus (UPI) — Consumers Public Power District collected a record $26,204,285 in operating revenues during 1964, the district's annual report shows.

This was a 5.8% increase over 1963.

Operating expenses increased 8% to $21,302,487. Of this, the cost of power purchased and generated amounted to $11,292,970.

The average dollar received by Consumers was divided into 36.8 cents from residential sales, 28.2 cents from commercial sales, 9.8 cents from industrial sales, 8.5 cents from sales for resale, 7.2 cents from farm sales, 5.7 cents from public authorities including street lighting, and 3.8 cents from other sources.

Consumers' cost per dollar was 42.4 cents for cost of power, 13.1 cents for administrative and customer accounting, 12.4 cents for bond retirements and improvements, 11.7 cents for taxes, interest and deductions, 10.9 cents for depreciation, and 9.5 cents for transmission and distribution expenses.

The district's in-lieu-of-tax and gross revenue tax payments, including $7,364 in occuation taxes, amounted to $1,008,981, up $41,090 from 1963.

Continued growth of all classes of customers brought total power sales to 1.4 billion kilowatt hours, an increase of 7.7% over 1963. The district had 130,555 customers at the end of 1964, compared to 129,483 the previous year.

Primary Bill Misses Okay By One Vote

A bill designed to give Nebraska an "all star" presidential preference primary lacked one vote of receiving the approval of the Legislature's Government Committee Friday.

A motion to advance the measure, LB164, generated four favorable votes, with five votes needed. One committee member voted against advancement and two did not vote. The eighth member was absent.

The committee amended the bill to provide that two delegates, instead of three, shall be elected from each congressional district for the national party conventions. The remainder would be elected on an at-large basis in the primaries.

Under the all-star primary provision, anyone deemed by the secretary of state to be a recognized prospect for a presidential nomination would be placed on the ballot, as would persons nominated by petition.

That segment of the bill received unanimous support at a public hearing Thursday but top Republican party officials protested the provision relating to choosing convention delegates.

Presently, convention delegates-at-large are elected at the state party conventions.

Morrison Invites Job Corps Head To Discuss Base

Governor Morrison said Friday he has asked the head of the federal Job Corps to meet with him next month to discuss possible future uses for the Lincoln Air Force Base.

The base is scheduled to be deactivated by June of next year.

Morrison said Otis Singleterry, who now heads the Job Corps, was formerly a principle in the North Carolina "industrial triangle" which developed research projects through private industry in cooperation with three universities. Singleterry was president of the University of North Carolina.

Morrison said he wanted information on chances for "industrial utilization" of the base.

"I don't know what the ultimate use of the base will be," he said, "but if it is foreclosed for any possible military establishment I'm determined it should be used for expanding our employment opportunities."

Figures Go Round And Round

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

To paraphrase a once popular tune, the figures go round and round and the state budget comes out here. But where? Outside of the members of the Budget Committee of the Legislature, no one knows too well at this date just what kind of state budget is recommended by the committee for the five divisions of government now reported on. These five divisions represent about 80 percent of total state government so they will be the bellwethers.

To begin with, much depends upon your individual economic point of view and your own political and governmental philosophy. Given full knowledge and understanding of every budget detail, no two people would agree entirely on what should or should not be in that budget. Secondly, there are many unknowns yet, such as the amount of unexpended balances that will remain at the end of the year, the valuation of property for the new biennium, the total budgets of the other 20 percent of state government agencies, the size of capital expenditures programs (expected to be known by the time this appears in print), legislative action on pending new state income programs, etc.

Number Of Unknowns

Additionally, no one outside the committee yet knows the budget detail. This means you have total figures only, not a breakdown in terms of programs. The result is that you do not know yet what the state agencies can do in comparison to what they would like to do.

From this, it should be obvious that an intelligent analysis of the budget at this point simply cannot be rendered. One can only speculate at the moment as to what the trend seems to be. If the budget had to be rated today as between excellent, fair and bad, we would pick the fair classification.

Some have already said that the overall 19 percent increase in spending as recommended by the committee for the five divisions is too high. Considered alone, that is not too bad an increase. However, it must be tempered by other considerations. There is, for instance, the fact that the general fund would go up only a little less than 16 percent under committee recommendations. This is the fund involving direct taxes against the people. But the total increase in "other funds" would be 23 percent. This represents cash receipts of the various departments and federal aid.

And federal aid increases will make up the bulk of the total "other funds" increase, at least equalling in dollar amount the approximate $14.3 million hike in the general fund. Thus, we are raising our own fund by no more than we are receiving in extra federal aid. Putting it another way, the federal government is absorbing as much of the cost of increased state spending as Nebraskans are absorbing themselves. In this light, we don't exactly look like big spenders. But again, don't jump to conclusions. The federal and state increase ratio will change more in favor of the state when the capital expenditures program mentioned earlier is known as this should involve more state than federal spending.

Too, the general fund increase at this point could result in an approximate two-mill increase in the state levy. Any levy figures at this point are pure guesswork but two mills looks like a pretty good guess and that isn't a hike to be sneezed at. The equivalent of another half mill will easily be found in the "other funds" category, aside from federal aid, in the form of higher tuition rates, increased fees and licenses, etc.

Then, there is the matter of department requests as compared to committees recommendations. The committee looks fairly kind when you consider that it gave all departments $30,649,012 more than the last biennial appropriation. But looking at it another way, the committee looks pretty hard when it gave departments $18,758,510 less than they requested.

These are all of the considerations there are to date on the budget. In total, they would seem to indicate that the committee was not excessive in any regard. They would seem to indicate that the committee went in for no hardtack nor did it go much beyond maintaining the current level of government service. The most serious question might well be on the University of Nebraska. Its 16.34 percent committee hike over the last biennium is better than the 9.93 percent given institutions but the university is a high priority consideration. There is no state agency more important to all of us than the university and the cuts in that budget will hurt the most.

University Position

State senators will never gain the understanding of the budget held by the committee but it is hoped they approach the subject judiciously. It is hoped the committee recommendations are not changed in either direction without consideration of program needs as opposed to arbitrary philosophic and economic generalities.

A Good Idea Beats A Pill

If you awoke this morning feeling tired and run down with your stomach acting more like a glass laboratory than the organ of comfort it should be . . . if you have a feeling that you are not making near enough money and must do infinitely better . . . Do not squander your cash on those corrosive pills and elixirs they advertise on television. The money you spend on them will eliminate all the aforesaid sad symptoms, but not for you. They will do it for the people who thought up those gimmicks.

You will do yourself far more good to follow the example of Ikito Hagawa of Tokyo, Japan. He solved his problems by thinking up a good idea.

Ikito runs a sporting goods store in Tokyo and among the things he stocked for sale was mountain climbing equipment. The only thing wrong was that scaling ropes, rock hooks and cleated shoes weren't selling very well. His store was too far from any mountains.

Ikito called in the readymix concrete man and another man with a saw. Above his shop door he sawed the front of his building back at a 15 degree angle. Then he had the concrete man turn it into a 60 foot cliff complete with mountain climbing problems and plenty of places to slip and fall.

It was an instant success. His store was crowded with people buying equipment. And he charged them each 40 cents an hour to learn climbing on his store front. He got cash in advance. That's important.

If you are not doing as well, you are not thinking hard enough.

Genius Disregards Race

Marian Anderson has sung her farewell concert in Carnegie Hall and music-minded America was deeply impressed. She is truly one of the all-time vocal great ones. Her recorded voice will be an unalloyed pleasure for generations and generations.

And, of course, her career is not over. As the impressario Sol Hurok commented, "She cannot retire."

We believe that is a true statement. She may retreat from the burdens of being in grand opera. And she may live in greater ease, without the trying disciplines that are required to keep a top operatic star at the top. But she will continue to sing as long as age permits her to have a good voice. It is to be hoped that that will be a long, long while.

Marian Anderson belongs to the black race. She was the first such to win highest operatic recognition. She broke a color barrier. And in that respect she was a valuable servant to her race. But she also was no average person. Who could be with a voice like hers?

Her case does not apply to the average person of her race. It does not apply any more than to say that the late Albert Einstein was typical of the Jewish people. But her case does prove again that no single race, whatever its color, holds a monopoly on the wanted characteristics. The human error is to believe otherwise and to take steps to see that the world is denied the full services of any number of people because they were born on the wrong side of the track.

It would be a much better and more wonderful world today had the full genius of people been allowed to express itself. Good things do come out of Nazareth.

Next Step In Reform

From The New York Times

The continuing debate over international monetary reform has been enlivened by contributions from Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson and France's Jacques Rueff. Mr. Wilson argues that reforms must be made to avert the contraction in world trade and investment he expects will result from the shrinkage in the American and British deficits.

Mr. Rueff is convinced that the efforts being made by London and Washington will fail because of defects in the present monetary system. He, too, predicts a crisis —unless the Johnson Administration doubles the dollar price of gold and the major trading nations agree to return to the discipline of the gold standard.

While many of Mr. Rueff's criticisms of the present system are justified, his proposed solution is not. To be sure, the United States could repay its foreign debtors by the simple stratagem of doubling the price of gold. But Washington's reputation for monetary integrity will be thoroughly discredited if it changes the value of gold by a stroke of the pen. Once the price was raised, moreover, it would arouse fears of future changes. Instead of encouraging stability, an increase might invite fiscal chaos.

Yet the monetary system needs strengthening. Steps must be taken to assure funds for a continued expansion in trade, which is Mr. Wilson's objective, without the kind of ballooning deficits Mr. Rueff considers a threat to stability. With Britain and the United States taking positive action to curb their deficits, it is time to undertake reforms designed to make the machinery more sensitive and durable.

Asian Visits To The U.S. Cancelled

WASHINGTON —There was more than meets the eye behind the headlines reporting the furor over cancellation of Premier Shastri's visit to Washington.

What the public didn't know was that Ambassador Chester Bowles in New Delhi has been trying to persuade the frail and scholarly prime minister of India to come to the United States for some time. He began last summer, even asked Justice Arthur Goldberg, then lecturing in Indian law schools, to urge the prime minister to come to Washington.

Premier Shastri was hesitant. He explained to Ambassador Bowles that he would have to visit Moscow en route, since the security of India, in view of the showdown with Red China, depended on both the U.S.A. and the USSR.

He considered coming to Washington after last winter's visit to London, but the winter was cold and the wraithlike prime minister Shastri suffers from frigid weather.

Finally he decided to come this spring.

Now, following the abrupt cancellation of his trip by the White House, Shastri will go to Moscow anyway, then to Canada, will carefully avoid the United States.

It is no secret that President Johnson cancelled the visit of President Ayub Khan of Pakistan because of Ayub's critical cracks about the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam.

As vice president, Johnson had gone to Pakistan, toured the country, invited the famous Pakistani camel driver to the United States, gave him a royal reception at the LBJ ranch, and sent him home the owner of a new truck.

The President, therefore, felt he had established a record of personal friendship for Pakistan. So when Ayub Khan began kicking his Viet Nam policy around, Johnson abruptly decided to cancel Ayub's trip to the U.S.A.

Then, because India and Pakistan are bitter rivals, he also cancelled the trip of the Indian prime minister.

Note—Earlier, when India protested the use of riot gas in South Viet Nam, President Johnson cabled Ambassador Bowles to remind the Indian government that it had used the same kind of gas to suppress riots in Madras, also that when Chinese troops were swarming over the Himalays into India, the United States had sent a sharp warning to the Chinese that we would retaliate from an airplane carrier in the Bay of Bengal unless the Chinese called off their invasion.

Ambassador Bowles was told to remind the Indians that they have short memories.

Tourist Cards New Gimmick To Help The Confused Tourist

NEW YORK — Contrary to the wishes of the nation's top Texan, more Americans will travel to Europe this year than ever before in history. Proving that this is truly the land of the free and home of the prosperous.

As a gesture to their President, however, Europe-bound citizens might be kind enough to look into a brand new travel-guide idea which is guaranteed to keep them from over-spending their U.S. dollars in cities like Rome and Paree. One (and one's money) can get carried away, you know, in big tourist towns of this sort unless certain rules of the road are observed. Such as:

Don't (in Paris) flash a big roll of bills or show off a lot of jewelry.

Don't (in London) stay in your hotel room past noon on your last day. If you're not out by then, you'll pay extra, sometimes as much as a full day.

Don't (in Rome) get into a non-meter cab or carriage without agreeing on the price to get to your destination. Then to be sure you understand, write the amount down on a piece of paper and show it to the driver.

These are a few of the hundreds of brief, essential tips provided in a unique new series called "Travel Ed-U-Cards." For $2 the deck, you can buy a series of packs of humorously-illustrated and pocket-sized cards containing about 30,000 words of succinct advice on how to visit a foreign city gracefully — without becoming bored, battered, bewildered or broke.

Instead of (as most tourists do) lugging along travel books and folders, one can tuck a pack of cards in his pocket and refer to it effortlessly when a decision is to be made. Here, in handy reference form, are the answers to questions that would take a lot of leafing through books to uncover: Questions like, "Can I take my teenagers to the Folies Bergere?"; "Where do I phone to get an audience with the Pope?"; "Can I get a two-shilling hamburger on Fleet Street?"; and "Who do I call in Paris now that Susie's come down with croup?"

* * *

There is a separate deck for each city, and the first card on the stack is a directory which gives a key to the number of the card to be referred to for help in shopping, choosing restaurants, money-converting, tipping, sight-seeing, even for clothes-sizing (a size 10 dress here is a size 40 at Dior's.)

Each deck has a "don't card," to prevent you from pulling political or financial faux-pas in strange cities. For example in London don't be late to appointments. In Rome, don't be on time.

Each deck also has a "trouble card," telling you exactly what to do if you lose a passport or a wife, your pocket is picked, you need new glasses or a quick loan, or want a doctor in the middle of the night.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

The Budget Committee should be commended for presenting to the Legislature this week its appropriations recommendations for five major tax-spending agencies in the fields of education, welfare and public institutions.

Walton

It is not at all important that the bill was 21 days behind its scheduled arrival on the floor, the important thing is that it is in possession of the lawmakers two or three (or more) months before adjournment.

Now, for the first time in memory, all senators will have full opportunity to study the Budget Committee's recommendations in these major areas, time to ask questions and seek answers, time to discuss the proposals with state administrators and constituents, time to undertake individual investigations to support any proposed changes, time to make a wise judgment.

And that, in our opinion, is a tremendous leap forward—one which will force all senators to participate in the tough deliberations of budgeting, and place responsibility for the final figures upon each of the 49 senators instead of upon only the nine members of the Budget Committee.

Two years ago, in this column dated June 29, we wrote:

"The Legislature one day this week appropriated public funds at a rate of $100 million an hour.

"Figure it out: it took not much more than 3½ hours of debate to approve the $362 million budget bill, a proposal which had been on the lawmakers' desks for just 42 hours when the discussion began.

"The bill is 71 pages long; it contains 66 separate sections, and 254 specific appropriation figures. Thus, it was debated and examined at a speed faster than an account a minute.

"Additionally, in that brief 42-hour period, senators had to assimilate a comprehensive 26-page, legal-sized background report and an eight-page comparative budget breakdown jammed with figures.

"Perhaps the budget is perfect, but we seriously question whether anybody really knows for sure on the basis of such a brief peek."

The $50.9 million University of Nebraska budget was debated on general file for about 12 minutes in 1953. The $38.1 million budget for the Department of Public Institutions received no debate, no discussion, not a single question. Same for the $45.6 million budget for the Department of Public Welfare.

Thought we then, and now:

"The task of state budgeting is an assignment to be shared by all 43 (now, of course, 49) members of the Legislature. We do not believe that any citizen would care to have his senator abdicate that responsibility.

"Perhaps the only way that each senator can perform that duty is for that budget bill to be out of committee and on his desk a month before adjournment.

"For only then, we think, will each senator know just what the budget contains; only then will department heads and state officials have an opportunity to convey their reactions to legislators and to the public; only then will the true legislative budgetary responsibility be fulfilled."

This year, all senators do have the opportunity to be fully informed and make wise decisions on appropriations for education, welfare and public institutions. Other appropriations recommendations may well be on their desks a month before adjournment, allowing the same study and judgment in other areas of state government.

Kudos to Dick Marvel and his hard-working committee (and John Quigley and his staff) for giving all senators an opportunity to fulfill their budgetary responsibility this session.

If you stop reading now, you'll avoid the pun which follows.

Republican National Committeeman Don Ross and State Chairman Walter Witthoff admitted to a legislative committee this week that the party's 1964 state convention was something less than democratic.

Last year, the convention selected 10 national convention delegates pledged to support presidential hopeful Barry Goldwater. Selections were made after a series of caucuses, after distribution of slates of Goldwater delegates, after a careful sifting which had started at the county level.

The anti-Goldwaters, even the non-Goldwaters, were automatically ruled out.

"We realize that there were some undesirable methods and approaches used in the last state convention," Witthoff admitted during testimony on a bill to return selection of all delegates to the voters.

"There should be a provision in the party's constitution to prevent such caucuses and slates at the state convention," Ross suggested.

Leaders of the 1964 effort "were told that they were acting irresponsibly," Ross noted.

"We bitterly reaped the fruits of that steamroller," added Charles Reed of Bellevue, a five-time national convention delegate who arose during that state conclave to protest and was shouted down.

This week, he finally got his say.

Personalized Issue

Lincoln, Neb.

For more than two years now I have been reading news stories finding fault with Nebraska's agriculture Director Pearle Finigan and his department on the subject of agricultural research. But so far I haven't read anything that contained any substantial evidence of wrong-doing.

I don't know Mr. Finigan any better than does the average ciitzen. He is a public figure. I am not. Several times I have been at meetings where he was. He may be in league with Satan but I have never seen any evidence of it. He appears to me to be a quiet, dutiful fellow.

This makes me wonder if the criticism levelled against him does not conceal an antagonism for the program he has been called on to carry out.

If I am not mistaken, the agricultural research program was conceived by the State Legislature, outlined in a statue and placed in Finigan's department with orders to carry it out. As I understand it, this program was a departure from the usual form of agricultural research. The usual form is to develop new techniques or better seed or better livestock strains to help the farm produce more. It is also to discover new products which industry can manufacture to sell profitably to the farmer. But the Nebraska plan was to attract industry to Nebraska for new uses of present farm production. The burden for such creativity was laid on the shoulders of the agriculture department with the understanding that what useful findings might ensue would be patented and held for Nebraska with royalties going into the Nebraska till.

Whether the program has been as gainful as its sponsors hoped is and always will be an open question. It has had some results. But no field of research is calculable, nor can it be measured in dollars and cents to the researcher.

For these reasons I find it hard to understand why all this complaint against a fellow and a department that never initiated the program, but are only under orders to carry it out.

If you send a man out to find and capture an eagle on a dark night, it is not his fault if there is no eagle around and he comes home only with a couple of pigeons.

And again maybe we are not prepared to take the chances and spend the effort to get us what we want —growth and diversification.

Seeking Peace

Lincoln, Neb.

The situation in Viet Nam presents us enormous difficulties. I was very pleased to hear the President call for unconditional discussion and economic development in a bold attempt to solve some of these problems.

However, in the face of a continually worsening situation, I propose that we be far more courageous in pursuing peace. Knowing the risks, we have bombed. Now, knowing the risks, let us try a cessation of bombing and an end to more troops in Viet Nam. I believe that an end to bombing would be a more realistic step toward negotiation than our present policy.

Let us try with all our strength to discuss honestly with all parties involved, including the N. L. F. There is good reason to believe, and apparently 17 non-aligned nations do believe, that the Viet Cong is a genuine party and should be included. What is there to lose by including them? If we are sincere in our desire for a peaceful and just settlement, why do we not courageously include anyone who might contribute and whose absence might make any agreement meaningless? Let us put all our efforts into beginning the discussions for which President Johnson called — unconditional discussions.

To be sure, the United States could repay its foreign debtors by the simple stratagem of doubling the price of gold. But Washington's reputation for monetary integrity will be thoroughly discredited if it changes the value of gold by a stroke of the pen. Once the price was raised, moreover, it would arouse fears of future changes. Instead of encouraging stability, an increase might invite fiscal chaos.

Yet the monetary system needs strengthening. Steps must be taken to assure funds for a continued expansion in trade, which is Mr. Wilson's objective, without the kind of ballooning deficits Mr. Rueff considers a threat to stability. With Britain and the United States taking positive action to curb their deficits, it is time to undertake reforms designed to make the machinery more sensitive and durable.

Asian Visits To The U.S. Cancelled

WASHINGTON —There was more than meets the eye behind the headlines reporting the furor over cancellation of Premier Shastri's visit to Washington.

What the public didn't know was that Ambassador Chester Bowles in New Delhi has been trying to persuade the frail and scholarly prime minister of India to come to the United States for some time. He began last summer, even asked Justice Arthur Goldberg, then lecturing in Indian law schools, to urge the prime minister to come to Washington.

Premier Shastri was hesitant. He explained to Ambassador Bowles that he would have to visit Moscow en route, since the security of India, in view of the showdown with Red China, depended on both the U.S.A. and the USSR.

He considered coming to Washington after last winter's visit to London, but the winter was cold and the wraithlike prime minister Shastri suffers from frigid weather.

Finally he decided to come this spring.

Now, following the abrupt cancellation of his trip by the White House, Shastri will go to Moscow anyway, then to Canada, will carefully avoid the United States.

It is no secret that President Johnson cancelled the visit of President Ayub Khan of Pakistan because of Ayub's critical cracks about the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam.

As vice president, Johnson had gone to Pakistan, toured the country, invited the famous Pakistani camel driver to the United States, gave him a royal reception at the LBJ ranch, and sent him home the owner of a new truck.

The President, therefore, felt he had established a record of personal friendship for Pakistan. So when Ayub Khan began kicking his Viet Nam policy around, Johnson abruptly decided to cancel Ayub's trip to the U.S.A.

Then, because India and Pakistan are bitter rivals, he also cancelled the trip of the Indian prime minister.

Note—Earlier, when India protested the use of riot gas in South Viet Nam, President Johnson cabled Ambassador Bowles to remind the Indian government that it had used the same kind of gas to suppress riots in Madras, also that when Chinese troops were swarming over the Himalays into India, the United States had sent a sharp warning to the Chinese that we would retaliate from an airplane carrier in the Bay of Bengal unless the Chinese called off their invasion.

Ambassador Bowles was told to remind the Indians that they have short memories.

Tourist Cards New Gimmick To Help The Confused Tourist

NEW YORK — Contrary to the wishes of the nation's top Texan, more Americans will travel to Europe this year than ever before in history. Proving that this is truly the land of the free and home of the prosperous.

As a gesture to their President, however, Europe-bound citizens might be kind enough to look into a brand new travel-guide idea which is guaranteed to keep them from over-spending their U.S. dollars in cities like Rome and Paree. One (and one's money) can get carried away, you know, in big tourist towns of this sort unless certain rules of the road are observed. Such as:

Don't (in Paris) flash a big roll of bills or show off a lot of jewelry.

Don't (in London) stay in your hotel room past noon on your last day. If you're not out by then, you'll pay extra, sometimes as much as a full day.

Don't (in Rome) get into a non-meter cab or carriage without agreeing on the price to get to your destination. Then to be sure you understand, write the amount down on a piece of paper and show it to the driver.

These are a few of the hundreds of brief, essential tips provided in a unique new series called "Travel Ed-U-Cards." For $2 the deck, you can buy a series of packs of humorously-illustrated and pocket-sized cards containing about 30,000 words of succinct advice on how to visit a foreign city gracefully — without becoming bored, battered, bewildered or broke.

Instead of (as most tourists do) lugging along travel books and folders, one can tuck a pack of cards in his pocket and refer to it effortlessly when a decision is to be made. Here, in handy reference form, are the answers to questions that would take a lot of leafing through books to uncover: Questions like, "Can I take my teenagers to the Folies Bergere?"; "Where do I phone to get an audience with the Pope?"; "Can I get a two-shilling hamburger on Fleet Street?"; and "Who do I call in Paris now that Susie's come down with croup?"

There is a separate deck for each city, and the first card on the stack is a directory which gives a key to the number of the card to be referred to for help in shopping, choosing restaurants, money-converting, tipping, sight-seeing, even for clothes-sizing (a size 10 dress here is a size 40 at Dior's.)

Each deck has a "don't card," to prevent you from pulling political or financial faux-pas in strange cities. For example in London don't be late to appointments. In Rome, don't be on time.

Each deck also has a "trouble card." telling you exactly what to do if you lose a passport or a wife, your pocket is picked, you need new glasses or a quick loan, or want a doctor in the middle of the night.

The Budget Committee should be commended for presenting to the Legislature this week its appropriations recommendations for five major tax-spending agencies in the fields of education, welfare and public institutions.

It is not at all important that the bill was 21 days behind its scheduled arrival on the floor; the important thing is that it is in possession of the lawmakers two or three (or more) months before adjournment.

Now, for the first time in memory, all senators will have full opportunity to study the Budget Committee's recommendations in these major areas, time to ask questions and seek answers, time to discuss the proposals with state administrators and constituents, time to undertake individual investigations to support any proposed changes, time to make a wise judgment.

And that, in our opinion, is a tremendous leap forward—one which will force all senators to participate in the tough deliberations of budgeting, and place responsibility for the final figures upon each of the 49 senators instead of upon only the nine members of the Budget Committee.

Two years ago, in this column dated June 29, we wrote:

"The Legislature one day this week appropriated public funds at a rate of $100 million an hour.

"Figure it out: it took not much more than 3½ hours of debate to approve the $362 million budget bill, a proposal which had been on the lawmakers' desks for just 42 hours when the discussion began.

"The bill is 71 pages long; it contains 66 separate sections, and 254 specific appropriation figures. Thus, it was debated and examined at a speed faster than an account a minute.

"Additionally, in that brief 42-hour period, senators had to assimilate a comprehensive 26-page, legal-sized background report and an eight-page comparative budget breakdown jammed with figures.

"Perhaps the budget is perfect, but we seriously question whether anybody really knows for sure on the basis of such a brief peek."

The $50.9 million University of Nebraska budget was debated on general file for about 12 minutes in 1963. The $38.1 million budget for the Department of Public Institutions received no debate, no discussion, not a single question. Same for the $45.6 million budget for the Department of Public Welfare.

Thought we then, and now:

"The task of state budgeting is an assignment to be shared by all 43 (now, of course, 49) members of the Legislature. We do not believe that any citizen would care to have his senator abdicate that responsibility.

"Perhaps the only way that each senator can perform that duty is for that budget bill to be out of committee and on his desk a month before adjournment.

"For only then, we think, will each senator know just what the budget contains; only then will department heads and state officials have an opportunity to convey their reactions to legislators and to the public; only then will the true legislative budgetary responsibility be fulfilled."

This year, all senators do have the opportunity to be fully informed and make wise decisions on appropriations for education, welfare and public institutions. Other appropriations recommendations may well be on their desks a month before adjournment, allowing the same study and judgment in other areas of state government.

Kudos to Dick Marvel and his hard-working committee (and John Quigley and his staff) for giving all senators an opportunity to fulfill their budgetary responsibility this session.

If you stop reading now, you'll avoid the pun which follows.

Republican National Committeeman Don Ross and State Chairman Walter Witthoff admitted to a legislative committee this week that the party's 1964 state convention was something less than democratic.

Last year, the convention selected 10 national convention delegates pledged to support presidential hopeful Barry Goldwater. Selections were made after a series of caucuses, after distribution of slates of Goldwater delegates, after a careful sifting which had started at the county level.

The anti-Goldwaters, even the non-Goldwaters, were automatically ruled out.

"We realize that there were some undesirable methods and approaches used in the last state convention," Witthoff admitted during testimony on a bill to return selection of all delegates to the voters.

"There should be a provision in the party's constitution to prevent such caucuses and slates at the state convention," Ross suggested.

Leaders of the 1964 effort "were told that they were acting irresponsibly," Ross noted.

"We bitterly reaped the fruits of that steamroller," added Charles Reed of Bellevue, a five-time national convention delegate who arose during that state conclave to protest and was shouted down.

This week, he finally got his say.

Personalized Issue

Lincoln, Neb.

For more than two years now I have been reading news stories finding fault with Nebraska's agriculture Director Pearle Finigan and his department on the subject of agricultural research. But so far I haven't read anything that contained any substantial evidence of wrong-doing.

I don't know Mr. Finigan any better than does the average ciitzen. He is a public figure. I am not. Several times I have been at meetings where he was. He may be in league with Satan but I have never seen any evidence of it. He appears to me to be a quiet, dutiful fellow.

This makes me wonder if the criticism levelled against him does not conceal an antagonism for the program he has been called on to carry out.

If I am not mistaken, the agricultural research program was conceived by the State Legislature, outlined in a statue and placed in Finigan's department with orders to carry it out. As I understand it, this program was a departure from the usual form of agricultural research. The usual form is to develop new techniques or better seed or better livestock strains to help the farm produce more. It is also to discover new products which industry can manufacture to sell profitably to the farmer. But the Nebraska plan was to attract industry to Nebraska for new uses of present farm production. The burden for such creativity was laid on the shoulders of the agriculture department with the understanding that what useful findings might ensue would be patented and held for Nebraska with royalties going into the Nebraska till.

Whether the program has been as gainful as its sponsors hoped is and always will be an open question. It has had some results. But no field of research is calculable, nor can it be measured in dollars and cents to the researcher.

For these reasons I find it hard to understand why all this complaint against a fellow and a department that never initiated the program, but are only under orders to carry it out.

If you send a man out to find and capture an eagle on a dark night, it is not his fault if there is no eagle around and he comes home only with a couple of pigeons.

And again maybe we are not prepared to take the chances and spend the effort to get us what we want —growth and diversification.

Seeking Peace

Lincoln, Neb.

The situation in Viet Nam presents us enormous difficulties. I was very pleased to hear the President call for unconditional discussion and economic development in a bold attempt to solve some of these problems.

However, in the face of a continually worsening situation, I propose that we be far more courageous in pursuing peace. Knowing the risks, we have bombed. Now, knowing the risks, let us try a cessation of bombing and an end to more troops in Viet Nam. I believe that an end to bombing would be a more realistic step toward negotiation than our present policy.

Let us try with all our strength to discuss honestly with all parties involved, including the N. L. F. There is good reason to believe, and apparently 17 non-aligned nations do believe, that the Viet Cong is a genuine party and should be included. What is there to lose by including them? If we are sincere in our desire for a peaceful and just settlement, why do we not courageously include anyone who might contribute and whose absence might make any agreement meaningless? Let us put all our efforts into beginning the discussions for which President Johnson called — unconditional discussions.

Auction Can Be Source Of Pleasure And Bargains

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "I'd never been to an auction in my life till I retired. Then my wife and I bought a weekend cabin near a lake. We started going to auctions and actually furnished the five rooms of the cabin for less than $1,000. We like the furnishings better than what we've got in our apartment, so we're going to keep bidding and gradually replace most of the tired furniture at home. Just thought you'd be interested."

A. Great. Auctions can be a source of great pleasure to folks with time. They offer lively action, new contacts and stimulating variety. And, if you're clever, you can often pick up astonishing bargains.

A. "Remember pictures of Churchill in his siren suit — resembling loose-fitting coveralls? He even wore it at Yalta. I had my tailor make me a siren suit out of blue worsted and it's so comfortable I'd like to wear it all the time. But my wife thinks it looks ridiculous and refuses to go anywhere if I'm wearing it. Don't you agree men need more variety in fashions?"

A. Sure do, but men are pretty timid on the subject and women aren't much help. You'd think that since Churchill wore his siren suit all through the war and on weekends thereafter, it would catch on everywhere. But society seems to frown if men wear anything in public but a regular jacket and trousers.

Q. "We're always entertained when an old man we know drops in once a week to tell us about the state of the world. His news source must be the gaffers at the bar-and-grill for it's obvious he hasn't read past the headlines of a paper for 10 years. He's so out of touch with the facts it's funny. Is it kinder to play dumb or straighten him out on a few things?"

A. Some people wouldn't know what to do with facts if they had them. And your pal sounds like he's in this category. If you value his weekly visits, you'd better just sit there — silent and spellbound — as he misinforms you on current events.

Q. "I'm an old maid who is nutty about old clocks. I've got my kitchen lined with shelves for my collection of 42 timepieces—each one bought for a song at various auctions and sales. Is this a popular hobby with retired folks?"

A. A lot of retired men collect old clocks, but I've never heard of an older woman with this hobby. Tangible items such as clocks of unusual and antique quality are a good investment, for they tend to increase in value with the passage of time. If you keep them in good operatting order they give you something to do, and with their ticking and chimes they are friendly, animated objects to have around.

Q. "I simply don't understand his talk about people being old in their 60's. I'll be 82 next week and may look old but I feel just the same inside as I did at 30 or 40. What is old age anyway?"

A. Nobody knows how to define old age, except by the calendar. Many official references say old age begins at 65. We'd be a lot better off if we could get people to forget about age and concentrate instead on getting as much satisfaction out of every year as possible.

If you would like a booklet "The Most Popular Retirement Hobbies" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Mansfield Favors Poll Tax Ban Cut

Washington (AP) - Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield urged Friday the elimination of the poll-tax ban written into President Johnson's right-to-vote bill.

Mansfield said the provision may be unconstitutional. The Montana senator thus sided with Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who helped write the original measure.

The disputed provision would outlaw poll taxes as a requirement for voters in state and local elections. A constitutional amendment already bans the poll tax in federal elections but they are a requirement for voting in state and local elections in Texas Alabama Mississippi and Virginia.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., floor manager of the Johnson bill, insists the poll-tax provision is constitutional.

But Mansfield told newsmen he thinks it should be knocked from the bill "because Atty. Gen. (Nicholas) Katzenbach has indicated its constitutionality is very, very doubtful."

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, wrote President Johnson asking him to help keep the poll tax provision in the bill.

The poll-tax ban, which Johnson did not propose, was added to the bill by civil rights-minded senators in the Judiciary Committee.

Texas Gulf Sued For $25 Million

New York (AP)—Two former stockholders sued the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. for more than $25 million Friday, charging that the firm withheld information about a rich ore strike in Canada and caused them to sell their shares at prices far below their true market value.

Dr. Isidore Yasuna, medical director of Mt. Eden General Hospital, filed suit in State Supreme Court, asking $25 million in punitive damages and $8,400 additional in actual damages. The supreme court in New York is a court of original jurisdiction.

Yasuna's suit said he sold 100 shares of Texas Gulf common stock on March 23, 1964, at $24.50 a share, and 100 more shares on April 16 the same year for $31.50 a share.

Victor M. Cannon Jr., professor of English at Suffolk Community College, Selden, Long Island, said in another suit that he lost $20,569 by selling 500 shares on April 15, 1964, the day before Texas Gulf announced one of the richest ore finds in this century.

He charged that on April 12, the company had issued a statement calling reports of a major ore discovery "premature and possibly misleading." Cannon said he relied upon this statement and sold his stoock at $29.25 a share.

Yasuna said the price he received was "wholly inadequate," and that his stock was worth at least $71.50 a share. Cannon said he believed his was worth $70 a share by April 12. The day of the announcement, he said, the stock began "a meteoric rise."

The Securities and Exchange Commission Tuesday filed a suit against the firm and 13 of its officers, claiming they used inside knowledge to buy their firm's stock before releasing news of the ore strike to the public.

FCC Moves To Take Jurisdiction Over CATV

Washington (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission moved Friday to protect local television operators from the mushrooming competition of community antenna television (CATV).

The FCC tentatively asserted jurisdiction over all CATV systems—those operating over cables as well as those using the FCC-controlled air waves via microwave relay systems.

The agency made final some rules to guard local television stations from competition by those CATV operators now using the air waves.

Wants Clarification

It asked Congress for legislation to clarify the FCC's role in regulating CATV, since "we are clearly concerned here with new and important questions of policy and law in the communications field."

And it presented a number of unanswered questions to the public and the broadcasting industry, inviting suggestions to shape its future policy:

—What effect will CATV have on the independent (non-network) operations of new UHF stations in big cities?

—Should CATV stations be required to carry the programs of nearby stations rather than leap frog those stations with the programs of more distant stations?

—Should CATV systems be allowed to originate programs—and if so should they then be placed under such FCC regulations as the equal-time law in political campaigns?

Should local television station owners be permitted to own local CATV systems?

Subscription Fee

Community antenna television systems—originally designed to bring television into remote areas—pick up the signals of regular television stations and transmit them by cable or wire, for a subscription fee into homes and businesses.

CATV interests—who are expected to oppose any FCC moves to limit their operations—contend they are a vital supplement to existing television.

Broadcasters counter that CATV, without limitations, poses a threat to free television.

Must Add Locals

The rules that take effect June 1 will require CATV systems to carry the programs of all local stations in addition to any they may bring in from out of town.

As further protections to the local stations, CATV units may not duplicate the programs of local stations with out-of-town imports for 15 days before or after the local station airs such programs.

Thus, if a Peoria, Ill., station were carrying "Gunsmoke," the local CATV operator (A) would have to offer that station's "Gunsmoke" transmission, and (B) couldn't carry for 15 days the "Gunsmoke" signal it was importing from a station in Chicago.

In making thsee rules permanent—they have been applied on an interim basis for two years—the FCC said CATV failure to carry local programs and its duplication of local programs from outside "are unfair and unreasonable means of competition."

Frederick W. Ford, president of the National Community Television Association, described the FCC's action as "an unlawful effort to assume authority it does not possess."

Ford, a former FCC chairman, said in a statement:

"I am certain that the Congress will intervene to prevent such an unprecedented assumption of jurisdiction by an administrative agency, and that it will hold hearings in the near future and adopt legislation which will provide for the orderly development of both television broadcasting and community antenna receiving systems in the public interest."

Mansfield Favors Poll Tax Ban Cut

Washington (AP)—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield urged Friday the elimination of the poll-tax ban written into President Johnson's right-to-vote bill.

Mansfield said the provision may be unconstitutional. The Montana senator thus sided with Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who helped write the original measure.

The disputed provision would outlaw poll taxes as a requirement for voters in state and local elections. A constitutional amendment already bans the poll tax in federal elections but they are a requirement for voting in state and local elections in Texas, Alabama, Mississippi and Virginia.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., floor manager of the Johnson bill, insists the poll-tax provision is constitutional.

But Mansfield told newsmen he thinks it should be knocked from the bill "because Atty. Gen. (Nicholas) Katzenbach has indicated its constitutionality is very, very doubtful."

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, wrote President Johnson asking him to help keep the poll tax provision in the bill.

The poll-tax ban, which Johnson did not propose, was added to the bill by civil rights-minded senators in the Judiciary Committee.

Texas Gulf Sued For $25 Million

New York (AP)—Two former stockholders sued the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. for more than $25 million Friday, charging that the firm withheld information about a rich ore strike in Canada and caused them to sell their shares at prices far below their true market value.

Dr. Isidore Yasuna, medical director of Mt. Eden General Hospital, filed suit in State Supreme Court, asking $25 million in punitive damages and $8,400 additional in actual damages. The supreme court in New York is a court of original jurisdiction.

Yasuna's suit said he sold 100 shares of Texas Gulf common stock on March 23, 1964, at $24.50 a share, and 100 more shares on April 16 the same year for $31.50 a share.

Victor M. Cannon Jr., professor of English at Suffolk Community College, Selden, Long Island, said in another suit that he lost $20,569 by selling 500 shares on April 15, 1964, the day before Texas Gulf announced one of the richest ore finds in this century.

He charged that on April 12, the company had issued a statement calling reports of a major ore discovery "premature and possibly misleading." Cannon said he relied upon this statement and sold his stoock at $29.25 a share.

Yasuna said the price he received was "wholly inadequate," and that his stock was worth at least $71.50 a share. Cannon said he believed his was worth $70 a share by April 12. The day of the announcement, he said, the stock began "a meteoric rise."

The Securities and Exchange Commission Tuesday filed a suit against the firm and 13 of its officers, claiming they used inside knowledge to buy their firm's stock before releasing news of the ore strike to the public.

FCC Moves To Take Jurisdiction Over CATV

Washington (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission moved Friday to protect local television operators from the mushrooming competition of community antenna television (CATV).

The FCC tentatively asserted jurisdiction over all CATV systems—those operating over cables as well as those using the FCC-controlled air waves via microwave relay systems.

The agency made final some rules to guard local television stations from competition by those CATV operators now using the air waves.

Wants Clarification

It asked Congress for legislation to clarify the FCC's role in regulating CATV, since "we are clearly concerned here with new and important questions of policy and law in the communications field."

And it presented a number of unanswered questions to the public and the broadcasting industry, inviting suggestions to shape its future policy:

—What effect will CATV have on the independent (non-network) operations of new UHF stations in big cities?

—Should CATV stations be required to carry the programs of nearby stations rather than leap frog those stations with the programs of more distant stations?

—Should CATV systems be allowed to originate programs—and if so should they then be placed under such FCC regulations as the equal-time law in political campaigns?

—Should local television station owners be permitted to own local CATV systems?

Government Can Acquire Easement Without Paying, High Court Rules

The Nebraska Supreme Court in a pioneering decision held Friday that it's possible for the government to acquire an easement or some other rights by condemnation without paying the person against whom the eminent domain proceedings were brought

The court thereupon affirmed a Cass County District Court jury which declined to award any compensation other than $25 to cover the cost of abstracting the proceeding to Mary Fulmer for giving up billboard rights on her property adjacent to the Interstate Highway.

The court's ruling, the first in Nebraska on this particular point, can have widespread effect inasmuch as the State Department of Roads is acquiring hundreds of billboard easements on property along the Interstate, controlling outdoor advertising.

Supreme Court Judge Harry Spencer dissented from the majority opinion. He said "it seems elementary to me that whenever private rights are taken for public use, there must be some compensation, nominal or otherwise, depending on the proof."

Before and After

The majority opinion, written by Judge Leslie Boslaugh, held that the measure of damages for the taking of an easement is the difference in the reasonable market value of the property before and after the taking of the easement.

"In a particular case, the rule may result in a determination that the landowner is entitled to no compensation for the taking of an easement," the opinion said.

Ordinarily it is a question for the jury whether the taking of the right of access has affected the value of the property and this court cannot determine as a matter of law that the value of the property was diminished thereby"

Six of the seven judges joined in the majority opinion

But Judge Spencer said he dissented "because I do not believe it should be possible to have a zero verdict in a condemnation action" To hold otherwise, he said, is to make a mockery of national and state constitutional provisions which say that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation

Judge Spencer held that the determination based on value before and after condemnation "is no more than a rule of evidence" which applies to the taking of land But in the case of a billboard easement, for example, the rule is not applicable and "a new rule should be adopted."

In the Fulmer case he noted, the owner obviously has lost the right to sell or lease advertising rights.

Taking of Rights

"There is here a taking of certain rights which, quite distinct from the land or its value have a definite commercial value of their own he wrote "I submit that where the rule of evidence applied is of such nature as to preclude the allowance of damages in a condemnation action, there is a perversion of the fundamental principles of justice To deny relief to the owner of property under such circumstances is to permit the state to confiscate property piecemeal and thus permit the very thing our constitutional provisions were intended to prevent

The majority opinion maintained, however, that compensation due the landowner is to be determined by the before-and-after value "and not by separately valuing the easement or right that is taken."

In the Fulmer case the court majority said evidence supported the finding that the landowner was not damaged by the taking of the easement

The court last December found differently in the same case At that time it ordered the suit sent back to district court for a new trial But reargument was granted and the new opinion replaces the earlier one

In another ruling Friday the court

Dismissed on technical grounds the appeal of a Lancaster County case in which the administrator of the estate of Margaret Ruse brought suit against the Navajo Freight Lines Inc and others

Government Can Acquire Easement Without Paying, High Court Rules

The Nebraska Supreme Court in a pioneering decision held Friday that it's possible for the government to acquire an easement or some other rights by condemnation without paying the person against whom the eminent domain proceedings were brought.

The court thereupon affirmed a Cass County District Court jury which declined to award any compensation other than $25 to cover the cost of abstracting the proceeding to Mary Fulmer for giving up billboard rights on her property adjacent to the Interstate Highway.

The court's ruling, the first in Nebraska on this particular point, can have widespread effect inasmuch as the State Department of Roads is acquiring hundreds of billboard easements on property along the Interstate, controlling outdoor advertising.

Supreme Court Judge Harry Spencer dissented from the majority opinion. He said "it seems elementary to me that whenever private rights are taken for public use, there must be some compensation, nominal or otherwise, depending on the proof."

Before and After

The majority opinion, written by Judge Leslie Boslaugh, held that the measure of damages for the taking of an easement is the difference in the reasonable market value of the property before and after the taking of the easement.

"In a particular case, the rule may result in a determination that the landowner is entitled to no compensation for the taking of an easement," the opinion said.

"Ordinarily it is a question for the jury whether the taking of the right of access has affected the value of the property, and this court cannot determine as a matter of law that the value of the property was diminished thereby."

Six of the seven judges joined in the majority opinion.

But Judge Spencer said he dissented "because I do not believe it should be possible to have a zero verdict in a condemnation action." To hold otherwise, he said, is to make a mockery of national and state constitutional provisions which say that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation.

Judge Spencer held that the determination based on value before and after condemnation "is no more than a rule of evidence" which applies to the taking of land. But in the case of a billboard easement, for example, the rule is not applicable and "a new rule should be adopted."

In the Fulmer case he noted, the owner obviousy has lost the right to sell or lease advertising rights.

Taking of Rights

"There is here a taking of certain rights which, quite distinct from the land or its value, have a definite commercial value of their own," he wrote. "I submit that where the rule of evidence applied is of such nature as to preclude the allowance of damages in a condemnation action, there is a perfersion of the fundamental principles of justice. To deny relief to the owner of property under such circumstances is to permit the state to confiscate property piecemeal and thus permit the very thing our constitutional provisions were intended to prevent."

The majority opinion maintained, however, that compensation due the landowner is to be determined by the before-and-after value "and not by separately valuing the easement or right that is taken."

In the Fulmer case, the court majority said evidence supported the finding that the landowner was not damaged by the taking of the easement.

The court last December found differently in the same case. At that time it ordered the suit sent back to district court for a new trial. But reargument was granted and the new opinion replaces the earlier one.

In another ruling Friday the court:

—Dismissed on technical grounds the appeal of a Lancaster County case in which the administrator of the estate of Margaret Ruse brought suit against the Navajo Freight Lines, Inc., and others.

Jnit To Help End Border Spat Briefed

A special legislative committee appointed by Gov. Frank Morrison to help end the Nebraska-Iowa boundary dispute agrees that if a settlement involves transfer of Nebraska land to Iowa, Nebraskans should retain title to the lands.

The committee, composed of two outstate senators and a freshman legislator from Omaha, met for its first briefing on the boundary dilemma Thursday.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton was elected chairman of the new group. Other members are Omaha Sen. C. F. (Pat) Moulton and Alliance Sen. George Gerdes.

Gov. Morrison was out of town and did not attend the meeting but his administrative assistant, Gene Budig, said it was the governor's feeling that the special committee should meet with a similar committee from the Iowa Legislature to work on an agreement.

Sen. Gerdes said Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer suggested that the committee meet with the Nebraska Boundary Commission before a session with Iowa lawmakers is scheduled.

State Surveyor Willis Brown told the three senators that the real boundary problems are from Omaha downstream.

The two states currently are involved in lawsuits over whether Iowa can take land which belonged to Nebraskans before the land was transferred to Iowa under the 1943 Boundary Compact. Boundary disagreement has resulted from past meanderings of the river.

Newspaper Rules Bill Withdrawn

The Legislature Friday approved the withdrawal of a bill, LB640, which would have permitted a newspaper to be printed outside its home county and still qualify as a legal newspaper.

Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice received permission to recall the controversial measure.

Also approved were the withdrawals of:

LB280—Establishing a Nebraska Civil Service System.

LB463—Increasing the portion of county road tax money going to cities and villages.

Hospital Council To Review More Rigid Aged Care Home Standards

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Proposed new state licensing standards for homes for the aged or infirm will be reviewed May 28 by the State Hospital Advisory Council.

The council will meet jointly in Lincoln with an advisory committee that has been developing the revised standards over a 2-year period.

Verne Pangborn, director of the Health Department's hospital division said the new standards will be more strict, affecting some 330 licensed facilities.

Marginal homes may have to close, he said, and a majority will have to upgrade services and facilities to comply."

After the May 28 review meeting Pangborn said public hearing would be held on the new rules before submission to the State Health Board for final approval.

Requires Certificate

The hospital council recommended to the state board a policy of requiring an architect's certificate that a nursing home was constructed in compliance with approved plans and specifications before the facility is issued a state license.

Pangborn reported instances where owners have purchased approved plans, but then deviated in construction.

The council was also told that a state plan for hospital modernization must be completed before July 1, 1966 if Nebraska is to be eligible for an estimated $340 000 in federal funds.

Modernization can include replacement of a worn-out hospital if the number of beds is not increased, Pangborn said.

'New Construction'

However, the administrator said Nebraska's needs are greater for new construction funds than for modernization funds."

This can be a major problem over the coming years, but the shift of federal emphasis on fund categories is something we are apparently going to have to live with."

Pangborn said he hoped to confer with federal officials regarding Nebraska's needs in early May in Washington.

Pangborn also said the state practice of frationalizing" Hill-Burton funds is enabling more hospitals to get under construction earlier.

Payment of the federal funds for which a hospital project is eligible is spread in equal payments over a three-year period with agreement of the sponsoring authority," he said.

Sometimes this can result in a minor loss of some eligible funds at the end of the three-year period but it is more than off-set by the lower costs from an earlier construction cost.

Construction Costs

Pangborn said construction costs go up about [illegible] per cent annually as compared with the expected [illegible] per cent loss in eligible funds under the protracted [illegible] plan.

The choice is to wait two or three years until sufficient federal funds become available for the total amount or be able to make an earlier start by accepting a three-year installment plan for federal funds, he said.

The council was advised of the growing interest and construction of public housing for senior citizens.

This can give relief to nursing care facilities, Pangborn said under the changing philosophy of keeping senior citizens out of hospital beds and active as long as possible.

More Charges Planned For Counterfeiter

U.S. Attorney Theodore Richling said that additional charges will be filed in connection with the confiscation of a large amount of counterfeit money and the arrest of Larry Gene McGuire in Lincoln Wednesday night.

"This was a big operation," Richling said, "and if we're not tough enough, other people may get the temptation to try something like it."

The case will be brought before a Federal Grand Jury to obtain an indictment. No one may be prosecuted for a felony in Federal Court without an indictment or a waiver of it by the accused.

McGuire, still being held in Lincoln City Jail in lieu of $5 000 bond, will be represented by Lincoln attorney J. R. Doyle. Doyle said he will seek to release his client on bail as soon as possible.

Hospital Council To Review More Rigid Aged Care Home Standards

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Proposed new state licensing standards for homes for the aged or infirm will be reviewed May 28 by the State Hospital Advisory Council.

The council will meet jointly in Lincoln with an advisory committee that has been developing the revised standards over a two-year period.

Verne Pangborn, director of the Health Department's hospital division, said the new standards will be more strict, affecting some 330 licensed facilities.

"Marginal homes may have to close," he said, "and a majority will have to upgrade services and facilities to comply."

After the May 28 review meeting, Pangborn said public hearing would be held on the new rules before submission to the State Health Board for final approval.

Requires Certificate

The hospital council recommended to the state board a policy of requiring an architect's certificate that a nursing home was constructed in compliance with approved plans and specifications before the facility is issued a state license.

Pangborn reported instances where owners have purchased approved plans, but then deviated in construction.

The council was also told that a state plan for hospital modernization must be completed before July 1, 1966, if Nebraska is to be eligible for an estimated $340,000 in federal funds.

"Modernization can include replacement of a worn-out hospital if the number of beds is not increased," Pangborn said.

'New Construction'

However, the administrator said Nebraska's needs are greater for "new construction" funds than for "modernization funds."

"This can be a major problem over the coming years, but the shift of federal emphasis on fund categories is something we are apparently going to have to live with."

Pangborn said he hoped to confer with federal officials regarding Nebraska's needs in early May in Washington.

Pangborn also said the state practice of "frationalizing" Hill-Burton funds is enabling more hospitals to get under construction earlier.

"Payment of the federal funds for which a hospital project is eligible is spread in equal payments over a three-year period with agreement of the sponsoring authority," he said.

Sometimes this can result in a minor loss of some eligible funds at the end of the three-year period, but it is more than off-set by the lower costs from an earlier construction cost.

Construction Costs

Pangborn said construction costs go up about four per cent annually as compared with the experienced one per cent loss in eligible funds under the protracted payment plan.

The choice is to wait two or three years until sufficient federal funds become available for the total amount, or be able to make an earlier start by accepting a three-year installment plan for federal funds, he said.

The council was advised of the growing interest and construction of public housing for senior citizens.

This can give relief to nursing care facilities, Pangborn said under the changing philosophy of keeping senior citizens out of hospital beds and active as long as possible.

More Charges Planned For Counterfeiter

U.S. Attorney Theodore Richling said that additional charges will be filed in connection with the confiscation of a large amount of counterfeit money and the arrest of Larry Gene McGuire in Lincoln Wednesday night.

"This was a big operation," Richling said, "and if we're not tough enough other people may get the temptation to try something like it."

The case will be brought before a Federal Grand Jury to obtain an indictment. No one may be prosecuted for a felony in Federal Court without an indictment, or a waiver of it by the accused.

McGuire, still being held in Lincoln City Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond, will be represented by Lincoln attorney J. R. Doyle. Doyle said he will seek to release his client on bail as soon as possible.

'Full Disclosure' Interest Rate Bill Is Advanced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Friday gave Sen. Arnold Ruhnke's "full disclosure" interest rate bill 37-3 first-round floor approval, then moved four special interest rate measures off select file en route to final reading.

Four separate efforts by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff to amend the special rate bills were turned down.

Ruhnke's bill, LB4, provides that if rates are not expressed in sales or loan contracts in terms of simple annual interest, they must be specifically stated as "add-on" rates so the purchaser or borrower will know the charges are not being expressed in terms of simple interest.

The bill also provides that all charges other than interest must be stated in the contract. Penalty provisions include forfeiture of all interest and charges, and attorney's fees for the debtor if he is successful in a court challenge.

Opposing the bill were Sens. Rick Budd of Nebraska City, Eugene Mahoney of Omaha and Chet Paxton of Thedford.

Budd said sections now contained in other bills, providingg full disclosure in terms of dollars, are sufficient.

Tries to Amend

Carpenter attempted to amend LB283, the proposed new installment sales act, to provide attorney's fees and court costs in the penalty section, but reduce loss of principal for excess charges from $4 000 to $1 000.

Penalty sections in the bill mean nothing, he argued, unless the borrower or purchaser can obtain an attorney and "get into court."

Three members of the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee raised objections to changing the bill, and Carpenter lost on a 9-18 vote.

An effort to remove the 85-month time limitation now contained in the bill for payment of time-sales agreements failed on a 9-21 vote.

A third Carpenter amendment, which would specifically permit building and loan associations to operate under the act without obtaining a small loan license, was turned aside on an 8-16 count.

To Increase Competition

Carpenter also attempted to amend LB52, the personal bank loan bill, to permit banks to use real estate as security in making installment loans. That, he said, would be in line with provisions in the proposed new industrial loan and investment company act, and increase competition.

The proposal received a 22-13 vote. Twenty-five affirmative votes were required.

Advanced from select file, in addition to LB283 and LB52, were LB307, the revolving charge agreements act, and LB425, the industrial loan and investment company bill.

Carpenter won approval to refer all interest bills to the attorney general for a final check of their form, their coordination and their constitutionality.

Salary Increase Bill Is Revived, Amended

The Legislature Friday revived the salary increase bill for elected state executive officers, then amended it to remove any increase for the governor and reduce proposed hikes for four other officials.

The bill, LB619, had fallen three votes short of enactment on final reading Thursday.

But Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff succeeded in obtaining sufficient votes to revive the bill with a promise that he would attempt to amend it to remove a salary boost for the governor.

Gov. Frank Morrison had indicated that he might veto any salary bill which included an increase in the governor's pay, even though it would not become effective until the beginning of the next gubernatorial term in 1967.

Thirty votes were required to revive the measure, and Carpenter's motion carried on a 30-11 count.

His motion to knock out the proposed increase in the governor's salary from $18,000 to $21,000 a year won 29-8 approval.

Then, Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha gained 27-12 endorsement for a motion to reduce recommended increases for the attorney general, secretary of state, auditor and treasurer by $1,000 each.

In its amended form, the bill would boost the attorney general from $15,000 to $16,000, and the other three officials from $10,500 to $12,500.

LB619 also provides for an increase in the lieutenant governor's salary from $5 000 to $6 000.

Angered by the reduction in salaries for officials other than the governor, Carpenter moved to kill the bill noting that action on the Pedersen motion "downgraded the offices by the cheapness of trying to save a thousand dollars." His motion failed, 3-34.

The bill was then advanced from select file, and will emerge again on final reading.

$21,000 Favored

Sen. George Syas of Omaha said he believes the governor should receive $21 000 a year.

"But if this governor doesn't think he's worth it, who am I to argue with him?" he asked.

Carpenter noted that, with the advent of four-year terms in 1967, it will be impossible to raise salaries again for six years if they are not boosted now. Pay increases may not take effect during terms in progress when salary hikes are authorized.

Salary boosts are "absolutely essential," Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt argued.

In its original form, LB619 had sought to boost the governor's salary to $25,000 a year, but it was amended in committee to the proposed $21,000 figure. The bill was sponsored by Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud.

Resolution To Put Pershing Bust In Capitol Offered

A resolution accepting a bust of the late Gen. John J. Pershing for placement in the State Capitol's Hall of Fame was introduced in the Legislature Friday. Action on the resolution, No. 34, was deferred.

The Nebraska Hall of Fame Commission decided earlier that a bust of Gen. Pershing should join those of authoress Willa Cather and U.S. Sen. George Norris in the Hall of Fame.

Sens. Fern Orme, Marvin E. Stromer, Hal W. Bauer and John E. Knight, all of Lincoln, and Jerome Warner of Waverly introduced the resolution.

State Legislators Advance 7 Bills

The Legislature Friday advanced seven bills from general file after first floor consideration.

The list:

LB881 Making a technical change in the cigarette tax increase bill passed earlier.

LB118 Providing that a teacher shall be told the reasons when his contract is not being renewed, and permitting the teacher to ask for and be given a hearing on such dismissal.

LB502 Authorizing Omaha to require licensing of plumbers operating outside the city but within three miles.

LB672 Spelling out a constitutional right to freely speak, write and publish on all lawful subjects.

LB302 Permitting domestic life insurance companies to make investments in foreign countries.

LB303 Clarifying the authority of domestic insurance companies to borrow money.

LB601 Permitting the use in Nebraska of guaranteed arrest bond certificates of the type which motor clubs and auto associations issue to members, guaranteeing appearances or payments of fines or forfeitures up to $200 for traffic offenses.

No Action Taken On Game Office, 3 Bills

A bill authorizing the State Game Commission to construct a new office building and three measures aimed at eradicating livestock diseases were heard Friday by the Legislature's Agriculture and Recreation Committee.

The committee adjourned without taking action after a lengthy public hearing.

LB650, introduced by Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, would permit construction of the Game Commission's new building with non-tax funds.

Near East Campus

Stryker and Commission Director Mel Steen said a 9.7-acre site on the University of Nebraska's east campus north of the Kellogg Center is proposed because of inter-related work between the commission and the school.

The three livestock disease bills, introduced by Sen. M. Kremer of Aurora upon recommendation of Gov. Frank Morrison, gained general support of the livestock industry but had some opposition.

Brucellosis

LB855, providing for recodification and clarification of existing laws for the eradication of brucellosis, was described by Department of Agriculture spokesmen as in general conformity with federal laws.

Entry Into State

A second bill, LB857, requiring a health certificate for entry of livestock into Nebraska except for slaughter or when assigned to a federally-inspected stockyard, was supported by representatives of the hog cholera committee, swine and sheep growers and the stock growers.

But the Nebraska Livestock Auction Market Association and Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association opposed the measure.

Representatives said the Agriculture Department has sufficient powers to establish and enforce necessary livestock health inspection rules without resorting to statutory provisions.

But a department spokesman said the bill would "provide reasonable uniformity with federal interstate regulations and those of neighboring states."

Also heard without opposition was LB862 clarifying procedures for the disposition of animals dying of anthrax.

N.Y. Times Interviews Nancy Cowles

The New York Times in its Sunday, April 11, edition, has a story on Nancy Cowles of Lincoln who is completing her junior year at Barnard College. Here is the Times' story:

Nancy Cowles, the new senior class president at Barnard College, wants to join the Peace Corps.

She offers teaching ability in art history, physical education and the humanities. But she admits it is hard to convince the Peace Corps that a young woman in a wheel chair—even one who is Barnard class president who swims a mile a day—can teach a gym class in East Africa.

Miss Cowles said the Peace Corps first discouraged her from applying at all, and then after she had submitted a physician's report said it would consider her case in September.

Polio is the reason for the wheel chair. Miss Cowles was stricken in 1952, when she was 8 years old, the year a polio epidemic hit Lincoln, Neb. Confined with intensive treatment to an iron lung, she gave up her ambition to be a ballerina.

Her parents took her illness "sensibly," Miss Cowles said.

"I attribute everything I have accomplished to the fact that my mother never gave me special treatment. Even flat on my back I had chores. My mother would carry in wet silverware for me to dry."

There was never any question that she would go away to college or that she would drive a car. Her parents bought a car with hand controls when she reached driving age, and she drove every day to high school.

Convincing people of her abilities is not a new problem. "When I was little, I had to do the inviting," Miss Cowles said. "When I wanted to go to a college with a campus, they said I wouldn't be able to get around."

This summer Miss Cowles plans to start research on her senior thesis at the University of Nebraska, where her father, the late Willard B. Cowles, taught. A government major, she combines concern for state government in Nebraska with plans for graduate school in art history. She suffers "guilt about going into such an esoteric field."

Her admiration of the late Dag Hammarskjold and her desire to join the Peace Corps are part of Miss Cowles' aim to "make a contribution," although she "isn't sure it's about to happen."

N.Y. Times Interviews Nancy Cowles

The New York Times in its Sunday, April 11, edition, has a story on Nancy Cowles of Lincoln who is completing her junior year at Barnard College. Here is the Times' story:

Nancy Cowles, the new senior class president at Barnard College, wants to join the Peace Corps.

She offers teaching ability in art history, physical education and the humanities. But she admits it is hard to convince the Peace Corps that a young woman in a wheel chair—even one who is Barnard class president who swims a mile a day—can teach a gym class in East Africa.

Miss Cowles said the Peace Corps first discouraged her from applying at all, and then after she had submitted a physician's report said it would consider her case in September.

Polio is the reason for the wheel chair. Miss Cowles was stricken in 1952, when she was 8 years old, the year a polio epidemic hit Lincoln, Neb. Confined with intensive treatment to an iron lung, she gave up her ambition to be a ballerina.

Her parents took her illness "sensibly," Miss Cowles said.

"I attribute everything I have accomplished to the fact that my mother never gave me special treatment. Even flat on my back I had chores. My mother would carry in wet silverware for me to dry."

There was never any question that she would go away to college or that she would drive a car. Her parents bought a car with hand controls when she reached driving age, and she drove every day to high school.

Convincing people of her abilities is not a new problem. "When I was little, I had to do the inviting," Miss Cowles said. "When I wanted to go to a college with a campus, they said I wouldn't be able to get around."

This summer Miss Cowles plans to start research on her senior thesis at the University of Nebraska, where her father, the late Willard B. Cowles, taught. A government major, she combines concern for state government in Nebraska with plans for graduate school in art history. She suffers "guilt about going into such an esoteric field."

Her admiration of the late Dag Hammarskjold and her desire to join the Peace Corps are part of Miss Cowles' aim to "make a contribution," although she "isn't sure it's about to happen."

DINNER pays courtesy to Miss Lilly, Mr. Gibbs

In prenuptial courtesy to their daughter, Miss Katherine Lilly, and Dale L. Gibbs, whose marriage will be solemnized at high noon today, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lilly presided at dinner on Friday evening at Hotel Cornhusker.

The guest list included members of the families, and the bridal party.

Have you seen the kites – the big, bright ones, whipping in the wind—with a little boy clutching tenaciously to the end of a long cord? You just know that any minute a ferocious gust of wind will pick up the boy along with the kite and whisk them both up and away out of sight.

MEADOW LANE

Mrs. Richard Petri has been up in the air herself more than once these days. That is, she has flown to Rochester, Minn., twice this month

April 2 was the first time that Mrs. Petri boarded a plane for Rochester. She visited her father, Mr Elmer Schutte, who underwent lung surgery at the Methodist Hospital in Rochester.

She was back up in the air on April 6 for a return flight to Lincoln, and again on April 11 when she returned to Rochester.

This time Mrs. Petri returned to Lincoln by car. She drove Mr. and Mrs. Schutte to their home in Fremont and was met there by Mr. Petri. They motored back to Lincoln on April 13.

Capt. and Mrs Dick Stagelberg and their three sons, Rick, Danny, and John are back in the states from Okinawa, but so far their visit hasn't been all "fun and games."

The family arrived in Pierre, S.D., on March 12th, to visit with the parents of Capt. and Mrs. Stagelberg, but everyone in the family, except Rick, ended up in the hospital at Pierre with bronchitis and colds. They had to delay their visit to Lincoln until Tuesday night

Mrs Stagelberg's brother-in-law and sister, Mr and Mrs. Donald Olson and their children, Todd and Tammy, were eagerly awaiting their arrival. However, the Lincoln stay must be cut short because the family has only a couple of day before they must leave for Oklahoma.

EASTRIDGE

Ladies of the neighborhood shuffled over to the home of Mrs. Everett E Peterson last week in order to shuffle their cards at a bridge game

The bridge players were Mrs. Howard Ottoson, Mrs. Eldon Kreimer, Mrs. Harold Hetherington, Mrs Vale Van Boskirk, Mrs. Dale McCracken, Mrs. Edward Schmacher, and Mrs. Stanley Krause.

Miss Mary Louise Wiebers is only 13 days old, but she's the center of attraction in the home of Mr and Mrs Herman Wiebers, 822 Eastridge Dr.

On April 10, Mary Louise arrived at Lincoln General Hospital and seven days later accompanied her mother home. Waiting for them were two brothers and a sister, Gus Dave, and Edye; and a grandmother, Mrs Attie Atkinson, of Danville, Ill

A warm spring welcome to Mrs Ethel Kingdon who is new to the Eastridge area. She has moved from 1511 D St. to 1021 Mulder Drive.

Alumnae Meeting

Mrs. Reese Wilson will be hostess to the Delta Delta Delta Alumnae on Tuesday at her home, 3040 Stratford. The 7:45 o'clock meeting will include a bazaar auction.

Community Volunteers

Junior high Camp Fire Girls in the city contributed their services to the community on Monday, when they met at the greenhouses of Antelope Park to tie trees in bundles for Arbor Day programs later this spring

We Hear That

By today, Sunday's big dinner is "long gone." So tonight is the night to fill up on pancakes and syrup. The junior and senior Youth Fellowship groups of the Bennet Community Church will be stirring batter for the pancake supper, which starts at 5:30 o'clock.

Julianne Bouc Honored

Mrs. Emil Benes and her daughter Miss Barbara Benes were hostesses at their home last evening at a personal shower honoring Miss Julianne Bouc, daughter of Mr and Mrs Julius Bouc of Ceresco. Miss Benes will be the maid of honor at the wedding of Miss Bouc and Gary Hatfield, which takes place this morning

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of my problem. My husband is retired and his hobby is walking. There's no harm in that, but besides taking long walks outside he walks back and forth inside our house half the night. He weights over 200 pounds and when he walks, the whole house shakes. I tell him that walking in the house is not the same as walking outside and he should please go outside and walk around the block as many times as he wants to, but he says I am being unreasonable. I have never asked him to stop walking before 10:30 p.m. I like to go to bed early and, with his feet stamping, I can't tell you how nerve-racking it is. So who's unreasonable?

WALKER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: He is. Ask him to walk to his doctor's. Your husband could be walking himself (or you) into a nervous breakdown.

DEAR ABBY: Somewhere I had heard that during an electrical storm it is always best to leave a cellar window open so that if lightning strikes, it can find a way out of the house. Do you, or any of your readers, know anything about this? My husband has turned it into a big joke, and I have no way of knowing if what I heard was true of false. I hope you can come up with an answer because I am tired of being called—

"FLASH"

DEAR "FLASH": According to Mr. Charles C. Benford, who has been the Chief of the Beverly Hills Fire Department for 40 years, this is false. Lightning seeks the "ground" (that's the purpose of a lightning rod), not a "way out." Chief Benford added that this tale is superstition—like the old Pennsylvania myth that if you put on your shingles by the light of the moon, it will keep them from curling.

KU's Chancellor Backs Stinson In Easton Firing

Hays, Kan. (AP)— Chancellor W. Clarke Wescoe of the University of Kansas Friday announced his "complete confidence and support" of Athletic Director Wade Stinson in the disputed firing of Bill Easton as track coach.

Wescoe told the Kansas Board of Regents that Easton, who has been track coach for 18 years, had refused to abide by procedures of the department.

Stinson fired Easton Tuesday, effective June 30, climaxing lengthy disputes between the two.

"There is no personal animosity involved, at least on the part of Mr. Stinson, our athletic director," Wescoe said in a statement he read at the monthly board meeting.

"This is not a matter of personalities; this is not a matter of downgrading any sport; it is one of principle or organization.

"The question is this: Shall the university's program in intercollegiate athletics be operated as a consideration of independent, autonomous personnel subject to no regulation, or shall it be a cohesive one responsible to the university and subject to its administrative procedures," Wescoe's statement said.

The chancellor said he conferred with Stinson and Easton last December and "I found it necessary to restate these principles."

"I made it clear to both at that time that Mr. Stenson is charged with the administrative responsibility for our athletic program.

"After an intervening period of disagreement, Mr. Easton informed Mr. Stinson on Monday last that he did not intend to abide by the procedures of the department.

"Faced with this situation, Mr. Stinson made a painful, but unavoidable decision. Both he and I regret the decision that was forced upon him."

The incident which led to Stinson's firing Easton involved the purchase of equipment for the recent K.U. Relays. It was reported that Easton failed to get clearance from Stinson to buy the equipment.

HUSKERS WIN TWIN BILL

Harris' Single Tops Wildcats

. . . NU WINS, 10-5, 3-2

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

A two-out single by Randy Harris in the bottom of the seventh inning drove John Roux home with the winning run in a 3-2 decision for Nebraska over Kansas State in the nightcap of a doubleheader Friday after the Huskers had won the opener, 10-5, at the NU diamond.

The single by Harris capped a two-run Husker rally that was needed after Kansas State had gone ahead 2-1 in the top of the seventh on back-to-back homers by Stu Steele and Joe Beck.

Gary Neibauer led off the final inning of the seven-inning contest with a sharp single to left and was wild pitched to second as John Roux was attempting to sacrifice.

Roux chased Neibauer to third with a single to left and Rich Brenning tied the game at two-all with a sacrifice fly to deep center, scoring Neibauer and allowing Roux to take second.

Joe Gaughan grounded out to put Roux on third, setting up Harris' game-winning blow..

The victory went to George Flock, who had relieved Bob Hergenrader when the Husker southpaw gave up the two Kansas State homers. Flock, winning his first Big Eight game of his career, retired three straight batters after taking over for Hergenrader.

The double victory vaulted the Huskers into second place in the Big Eight standings, only one-half game behind Oklahoma State. A Nebraska win today plus a Missouri victory over Oklahoma State would give NU the Big Eight lead.

"I was glad that it was Harris," NU coach Tony Sharpe said in speaking of the winning hit. "He's been fighting with himself at the plate and maybe this will help him.

"And how about my fireman (Flock). He does a good job for a couple of innings," the Husker coach beamed after his squad had boosted its Big Eight record to 5-2.

Hergenrader had pitched sound ball in the nightcap until he hung a couple of curve balls to Stelle and Beck. Both homers were over the right field fence.

Hergenrader appeared to be coasting along to his third straigh Big Eight victory when he ran into the seventh inning trouble. He had struck out six and hadn't allowed a base on balls with only two hits through the first six innings. Neither of the two Kansas State base runners in the first six innings got beyond first base.

Nebraska fielding, the best in the Big Eight entering the series, fell apart in the opening contest with five errors giving the Wildcats a big boost.

Sophomore right-hander Stan Bahnsen went the route to pick up his second Big Eight win against one loss, but he had to survive a couple of shaky innings to get the win.

Bahnsen ran into trouble in the first inning when a walk and his own throwing error on an infield single by Beck produced a 1-0 K-State lead.

Again in the fifth, Bahnsen found the going rocky after his teammates had provided him with a 5-1 cushion. A walk, a fielder's choice, singles by Keith Cramer and Ernie Recob, a double by Steele and an error on shortstop Roux produced four Kansas State runs that knotted the contest at 5-5.

The Huskers had gone ahead, 5-1, in the fourth when Neibauer led off with a 385-foot home run over the center field fence and nine more NU hitters came to the plate before the side was retired.

Consecutive ground rule doubles by Roux and Brenning that bounced over the fence produced one run and sent K-State starter Wade Johnson to the bench in favor of Dennis Erkenbrack.

Erkenbrack proceeded to walk Gaughan, Bahnsen and Harris before hitting Larry Bornschlegl with a pitch to force in two more runs, giving the Huskers the 5-1 advantage.

After Kansaas State tied it up at five-all in the top of the fifth, Nebraska came back with a single run in its half of the inning on a base on balls to Brenning, a wild pitch by Rick Rambin, the third K-State hurler, and an error on second baseman Jim Scheffer.

The final four Husker runs in the 10-5 opening victory came in the sixth on only one extra base blow, a double by Gary Tunnison. Four walks, a wild pitch, a passed ball and an infield single contributed to the K-State troubles in the sixth inning.

Bahnsen, in picking up the win, struck out nine and walked only two.

Sharpe said he would go with either Bob Stickels or Mick Zangari in today's single game, slated for 1 p.m. at the NU diamond.

KU, Sooners Divide Two

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma took advantage of pitcher Steve Renko's wildness Friday to grab the first game of a Big Eight Conference baseball doubleheader 6-4, but Kansas slipped by the Sooners 3-2 in the second game.

Renko, who walked 11 batters, handed the Sooners the two crucial runs in the fourth inning of the first game. After walking three men, a run scored on a wild pitch. Then Renko forced in a run with two more walks.

Celtics Use Fast Break For Victory

Los Angeles (AP) — Boston shook loose its savage fast break in the final two periods to wipe out a six-point halftime deficit and score a 112-99 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers Friday night in the National Basketball Association championship playoffs.

The Celtics' triumph pushed the defending world champions into a 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 series.

Boston will now attempt to claim its seventh straight title when the fifth game is staged Sunday afternoon at Boston.

The Lakers, playing before a sellout crowd of 15,217, performed brilliantly in the second quarter to seize a 61-55 lead at intermission after trailing by as much as 12 points earlier in the period.

They took the play away from the Celtics on the backboards and got a sensational scoring effort from Leroy Ellis, who canned 17 points in the half.

Jerry West, held to just two points in the opening period by K. C. Jones, found the range for 11 points in the furious second quarter rally to also spearhead the attack.

HEADLEY TAKES OFF . . . NU's Headley takes off just before getting baton in 440 preliminaries at Drake.

NU Hopes For 440 Slam Suffer Setback At Drake

. . . HEADLEY SUFFERS LEG INJURY

Lincoln Star Special

Des Moines, Iowa—Records came tumbling down in the 56th annual Drake Relays here Friday and most likely so did Nebraska's bid to score a slam of the Midwest Relays circuit in the 440-yard relay.

The speedy Cornhuukers sprint corps, which had won the Texas and Kansas legs of the triple crown in :40.5, qualified in the quarter-mile event, but may have to scratch out of it due to an injury to Lynn Headley.

The lithe Jamaican, running out front in an 880 relay qualifying heat, pulled up lame about 40 yards after taking the baton from Dick Strand.

Trainer George Sullivan labeled the muscle pull a "light one," and administered immediate treatment but coach Frank Sevigne, who was having a busy day as the referee of the meet, said it was doubtful Headley could run on Saturday.

He indicated that if Headley could not run, the team would scratch in the 440 relay since Tom Millsap also has a slight injury.

The injury ruined what could have been a terrific day for the Huskers as they looked like a cinch to qualify for the 880 relay also.

The Husker mile relay quartet of Dennis Walker, Jim Wendt, Dick Strand and Dave Crook later qualified for the mile relay final with a 3:11.1.

And Charlie Greene finally debuted in the open 100 and 9.5 while winning his heat. debuted well as he loafed to a He'll go against Richard Stebbins of Grambling among others in the finals. Stebbins won his heat in 9.4.

Headley also won a heat in the century at 9.5, but once again isn't likely to run.

The big record of the day—there were 10 in the university-college class—was erected by Baylor, which bettered the national collegiate record in the sprint medley with a 3:17 flat, five tenths of a second under the mark set by Oregon State last year. Ohio, which ran second, was under the Drake record, and Oklahoma, a third place finisher, ran 3:17.8, the best ever by a Big Eight school.

A relays broad jump record was set by New Mexico's Clarence Robinson who leaped Clarence Robinson who leaped 26-9-¼. Robinson last week was named the outstanding performer in the Kansas Relays. His effort Friday was 7-½ inches better than that of Gayle Hopkins of Arizona last spring.

The big individual attraction here—Texas A&M ace Randy Matson—didn't let the crowd of 13,500 down as he tossed the discus 191-2½, erasing the record of 187-7 3-4 established by Kansas' Al Oerter in 1958.

The Big Eight as usual had a good day and no one had a better one than Kansas. The Jayhawks' coach Bill Easton, who has been fired by athletic director Wade Stinson effective June 30, is bowing out in typical fashion.

His four-mile relay team, anchored by Herald Hadley, shattered the Drake record in 16:40.6 and in doing so ran a full second faster than a Big Eight team has ever run the event. Missouri ran a 16:41.6 last year.

None of the Nebraska state colleges had a particularly good day, although Gary Power of Omaha ran third in his heat in the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.4.

Doane ran fourth and Nebraska Wesleyan fifth in the same heat in the mile relay. Doane ran 3:21.0 and Wesleyan, with Ken TeSelle, Dennis Gordon, Lenny Hendricksen and Wendell Wilson, ran 3:25.6.

KU's Chancellor Backs Stinson In Easton Firing

Hays, Kan. (AP)— Chancellor W. Clarke Wescoe of the University of Kansas Friday announced his "complete confidence and support" of Athletic Director Wade Stinson in the disputed firing of Bill Easton as track coach.

Wescoe told the Kansas Board of Regents that Easton, who has been track coach for 18 years, had refused to abide by procedures of the department.

Stinson fired Easton Tuesday, effective June 30, climaxing lengthy disputes between the two.

"There is no personal animosity involved, at least on the part of Mr. Stinson, our athletic director," Wescoe said in a statement he read at the monthly board meeting.

"This is not a matter of personalities; this is not a matter of downgrading any sport; it is one of principle or organization.

"The question is this: Shall the university's program in intercollegiate athletics be operated as a consideration of independent, autonomous personnel subject to no regulation, or shall it be a cohesive one responsible to the university and subject to its administrative procedures," Wescoe's statement said.

The chancellor said he conferred with Stinson and Easton last December and "I found it necessary to restate these principles."

"I made it clear to both at that time that Mr. Stenson is charged with the administrative responsibility for our athletic program.

"After an intervening period of disagreement, Mr. Easton informed Mr. Stinson on Monday last that he did not intend to abide by the procedures of the department.

"Faced with this situation, Mr. Stinson made a painful, but unavoidable decision. Both he and I regret the decision that was forced upon him."

The incident which led to Stinson's firing Easton involved the purchase of equipment for the recent K.U. Relays. It was reported that Easton failed to get clearance from Stinson to buy the equipment.

Celtics Use Fast Break For Victory

Los Angeles (AP) — Boston shook loose its savage fast break in the final two periods to wipe out a six-point halftime deficit and score a 112-99 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers Friday night in the National Basketball Association championship playoffs.

The Celtics' triumph pushed the defending world champions into a 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 series.

Boston will now attempt to claim its seventh straight title when the fifth game is staged Sunday afternoon at Boston.

The Lakers, playing before a sellout crowd of 15,217, performed brilliantly in the second quarter to seize a 61-55 lead at intermission after trailing by as much as 12 points earlier in the period.

They took the play away from the Celtics on the backboards and got a sensational scoring effort from Leroy Ellis, who canned 17 points in the half.

Jerry West, held to just two points in the opening period by K. C. Jones, found the range for 11 points in the furious second quarter rally to also spearhead the attack.

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma took advantage of pitcher Steve Renko's wildness Friday to grab the first game of a Big Eight Conference baseball doubleheader 6-4, but Kansas slipped by the Sooners 3-2 in the second game.

Renko, who walked 11 batters, handed the Sooners the two crucial runs in the fourth inning of the first game. After walking three men, a run scored on a wild pitch. Then Renko forced in a run with two more walks.

Harris' Single Tops Wildcats

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

A two-out single by Randy Harris in the bottom of the seventh inning drove John Roux home with the winning run in a 3-2 decision for Nebraska over Kansas State in the nightcap of a doubleheader Friday after the Huskers had won the opener, 10-5, at the NU diamond.

The single by Harris capped a two-run Husker rally that was needed after Kansas State had gone ahead 2-1 in the top of the seventh on back-to-back homers by Stu Steele and Joe Beck.

Gary Neibauer led off the final inning of the seven-inning contest with a sharp single to left and was wild pitched to second as John Roux was attempting to sacrifice.

Roux chased Neibauer to third with a single to left and Rich Brenning tied the game at two-all with a sacrifice fly to deep center, scoring Neibauer and allowing Roux to take second.

Joe Gaughan grounded out to put Roux on third, setting up Harris' game-winning blow..

The victory went to George Flock, who had relieved Bob Hergenrader when the Husker southpaw gave up the two Kansas State homers. Flock, winning his first Big Eight game of his career, retired three straight batters after taking over for Hergenrader.

The double victory vaulted the Huskers into second place in the Big Eight standings, only one-half game behind Oklahoma State. A Nebraska win today plus a Missouri victory over Oklahoma State would give NU the Big Eight lead.

"I was glad that it was Harris," NU coach Tony Sharpe said in speaking of the winning hit. "He's been fighting with himself at the plate and maybe this will help him.

"And how about my fireman (Flock). He does a good job for a couple of innings," the Husker coach beamed after his squad had boosted its Big Eight record to 5-2.

Hergenrader had pitched sound ball in the nightcap until he hung a couple of curve balls to Stelle and Beck. Both homers were over the right field fence.

Hergenrader appeared to be coasting along to his third straigh Big Eight victory when he ran into the seventh inning trouble. He had struck out six and hadn't allowed a base on balls with only two hits through the first six innings. Neither of the two Kansas State base runners in the first six innings got beyond first base.

Nebraska fielding, the best in the Big Eight entering the series, fell apart in the opening contest with five errors giving the Wildcats a big boost.

Sophomore right-hander Stan Bahnsen went the route to pick up his second Big Eight win against one loss, but he had to survive a couple of shaky innings to get the win.

Bahnsen ran into trouble in the first inning when a walk and his own throwing error on an infield single by Beck produced a 1-0 K-State lead.

Again in the fifth, Bahnsen found the going rocky after his teammates had provided him with a 5-1 cushion. A walk, a fielder's choice, singles by Keith Cramer and Ernie Recob, a double by Steele and an error on shortstop Roux produced four Kansas State runs that knotted the contest at 5-5.

The Huskers had gone ahead, 5-1, in the fourth when Neibauer led off with a 385-foot home run over the center field fence and nine more NU hitters came to the plate before the side was retired.

Consecutive ground rule doubles by Roux and Brenning that bounced over the fence produced one run and sent K-State starter Wade Johnson to the bench in favor of Dennis Erkenbrack.

Erkenbrack proceeded to walk Gaughan, Bahnsen and Harris before hitting Larry Bornschlegl with a pitch to force in two more runs, giving the Huskers the 5-1 advantage.

After Kansaas State tied it up at five-all in the top of the fifth, Nebraska came back with a single run in its half of the inning on a base on balls to Brenning, a wild pitch by Rick Rambin, the third K-State hurler, and an error on second baseman Jim Scheffer.

The final four Husker runs in the 10-5 opening victory came in the sixth on only one extra base blow, a double by Gary Tunnison. Four walks, a wild pitch, a passed ball and an infield single contributed to the K-State troubles in the sixth inning.

Bahnsen, in picking up the win, struck out nine and walked only two.

Sharpe said he would go with either Bob Stickels or Mick Zangari in today's single game, slated for 1 p.m. at the NU diamond.

NU Hopes For 440 Slam Suffer Setback At Drake

. . . HEADLEY SUFFERS LEG INJURY

Lincoln Star Special

Des Moines, Iowa—Records came tumbling down in the 56th annual Drake Relays here Friday and most likely so did Nebraska's bid to score a slam of the Midwest Relays circuit in the 440-yard relay.

The speedy Cornhuukers sprint corps, which had won the Texas and Kansas legs of the triple crown in :40.5, qualified in the quarter-mile event, but may have to scratch out of it due to an injury to Lynn Headley.

The lithe Jamaican, running out front in an 880 relay qualifying heat, pulled up lame about 40 yards after taking the baton from Dick Strand.

Trainer George Sullivan labeled the muscle pull a "light one," and administered immediate treatment but coach Frank Sevigne, who was having a busy day as the referee of the meet, said it was doubtful Headley could run on Saturday.

He indicated that if Headley could not run, the team would scratch in the 440 relay since Tom Millsap also has a slight injury.

The injury ruined what could have been a terrific day for the Huskers as they looked like a cinch to qualify for the 880 relay also.

The Husker mile relay quartet of Dennis Walker, Jim Wendt, Dick Strand and Dave Crook later qualified for the mile relay final with a 3:11.1.

And Charlie Greene finally debuted in the open 100 and 9.5 while winning his heat. debuted well as he loafed to a He'll go against Richard Stebbins of Grambling among others in the finals. Stebbins won his heat in 9.4.

Headley also won a heat in the century at 9.5, but once again isn't likely to run.

The big record of the day—there were 10 in the university-college class—was erected by Baylor, which bettered the national collegiate record in the sprint medley with a 3:17 flat, five tenths of a second under the mark set by Oregon State last year. Ohio, which ran second, was under the Drake record, and Oklahoma, a third place finisher, ran 3:17.8, the best ever by a Big Eight school.

A relays broad jump record was set by New Mexico's Clarence Robinson who leaped Clarence Robinson who leaped 26-9-¼. Robinson last week was named the outstanding performer in the Kansas Relays. His effort Friday was 7-½ inches better than that of Gayle Hopkins of Arizona last spring.

The big individual attraction here—Texas A&M ace Randy Matson—didn't let the crowd of 13,500 down as he tossed the discus 191-2½, erasing the record of 187-7 3-4 established by Kansas' Al Oerter in 1958.

The Big Eight as usual had a good day and no one had a better one than Kansas. The Jayhawks' coach Bill Easton, who has been fired by athletic director Wade Stinson effective June 30, is bowing out in typical fashion.

His four-mile relay team, anchored by Herald Hadley, shattered the Drake record in 16:40.6 and in doing so ran a full second faster than a Big Eight team has ever run the event. Missouri ran a 16:41.6 last year.

None of the Nebraska state colleges had a particularly good day, although Gary Power of Omaha ran third in his heat in the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.4.

Doane ran fourth and Nebraska Wesleyan fifth in the same heat in the mile relay. Doane ran 3:21.0 and Wesleyan, with Ken TeSelle, Dennis Gordon, Lenny Hendricksen and Wendell Wilson, ran 3:25.6.

Missouri Cops Distance Medley At Penn Relays

Philadelphia (AP) — Robin Lingle anchored Missouri to an easy 35-yard victory over St. John's in the distance medley Friday and ruined Villanova hopes of an unprecedented five relays crowns in the Penn Relays.

Lingle's chore was turned into an easy one when Charles Conrad, running the third leg for Missouri, made up some 30 yards on Tommy Bauer of St. John's and cut the Redmen's lead to five yards going into the final mile leg.

Lingle was easily the master of St. John's Larry Furnell, clipping off the distance in 4:10. The winning team time was 9:56.6. Conrad's three-quarter mile was 3:03.8.

Timmons Hits Curtailing Of KU Track

Wichita, Kan. (AP)—Bob Timmons, new track coach at Oregon State University and formerly assistant coach at Kansas University, was quoted Friday as saying he is not interested in the KU job "if the track program were going to be curtailed."

The Wichita Eagle said Timmons made the statement in commenting on reports that Timmons might be offered the job from which veteran track coach Bill Easton was fired three days ago.

Timmons is now in Corvalis, Ore., where he will take over his Oregon State job July 1. He left Lawrence, Kan., last Monday.

Eagle sports news editor Oren Campbell said Timmons told him in a telephone interview "My feeling is that if there is any way this situation can be reconciled with Bill (Easton), I hope it is."

The Eagle quoted Timmons as saying he would consider the offer only if there was no possible way Stinson and Easton could resolve their differences. He also was quoted as saying he would also have to examine any de-emphasis in track that Kansas might be planning.

"I would like to see Bill bow out at the same high level as the team he is coaching," Timmons told the Eagle. "I appreciate everything done for me at Kansas. I feel the reason I am here now is because of Bill.

"I was kind of shocked by what transpired there."

"Under no conditions would I be interested in the position if the track program were going to be curtailed and brought down to a place where it would not be competitive with the rest of the mid-western universities," Timmons was quoted as saying.

Hutchinson, Kan. (AP) — Jim Ryun, Olympian still competing for Wichita, Kan., East High, broke his own national high school record in the mile with a 4:02 clocking Friday in the Hutchinson Invitational track meet.

He set the national prep record of 4:04.4 earlier this month. A week ago Ryun ran a 4:04.8 mile and 1:47.7 relay half mile, fastest mile—880 double in the history of the Kansas relays.

His career best of 3:59 in the mile came in a non-prep meet, The Compton Relays last year, before he made the U.S. Olympic team in the 15,400 meters.

2 Milwaukeeans Advance To 2nd In ABC Tourney

St. Paul (AP) — Jerry Sarano and Mel Zirzow of Milwaukee collaborated for a 1,284 series and second place in regular doubles Friday, sparking a major overhaul in the minor events standings at the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Zirzow shot 669 and Sarano 615 as the young combination fell 16 pins short of overtaking Buzz Bosler and Dan Slak of Milwaukee, who had led the division for a week with 1,300.

Dick Ude of Lincoln, Neb., and Henry Yager of Aurora, Ill., are deadlocked for the singles lead with 689.

Lew Jones of Ixonia, Wis., tied for fifth in regular all-events with 1,876. The 42-year-old contractor had 592 in the team event, 645 in doubles and 639 in singles.

Nice Weather Hastens Pace Of Fishing

Recent warm weather has sent northern pike, sauger and white bass on the prowl in many lakes and streams across Nebraska, according to the Game Commission.

A capsule report by areas:

SOUTHWEST: Medicine Creek Reservoir—some walleyes and crappie along the dam; catfish nibbling shad.

Swanson Reservoir—walleye fishing very good with doll flies; West end good for catfish.

Johnson Lake—white bass beginning to hit at inlet.

Red Willow Dam—crappie, bass fishing fair in Spring Creek area; a few northern striking.

Sutherland Reservoir—inlet producing white bass action.

Missouri Cops Distance Medley At Penn Relays

Philadelphia (AP) — Robin Lingle anchored Missouri to an easy 35-yard victory over St. John's in the distance medley Friday and ruined Villanova hopes of an unprecedented five relays crowns in the Penn Relays.

Lingle's chore was turned into an easy one when Charles Conrad, running the third leg for Missouri, made up some 30 yards on Tommy Bauer of St. John's and cut the Redmen's lead to five yards going into the final mile leg.

Lingle was easily the master of St. John's Larry Furnell, clipping off the distance in 4:10. The winning team time was 9:56.6. Conrad's three-quarter mile was 3:03.8.

Timmons Hits Curtailing Of KU Track

Wichita, Kan. (AP)—Bob Timmons, new track coach at Oregon State University and formerly assistant coach at Kansas University, was quoted Friday as saying he is not interested in the KU job "if the track program were going to be curtailed."

The Wichita Eagle said Timmons made the statement in commenting on reports that Timmons might be offered the job from which veteran track coach Bill Easton was fired three days ago.

Timmons is now in Corvalis, Ore., where he will take over his Oregon State job July 1. He left Lawrence, Kan., last Monday.

Eagle sports news editor Oren Campbell said Timmons told him in a telephone interview "My feeling is that if there is any way this situation can be reconciled with Bill (Easton), I hope it is."

The Eagle quoted Timmons as saying he would consider the offer only if there was no possible way Stinson and Easton could resolve their differences. He also was quoted as saying he would also have to examine any de-emphasis in track that Kansas might be planning.

"I would like to see Bill bow out at the same high level as the team he is coaching," Timmons told the Eagle. "I appreciate everything done for me at Kansas. I feel the reason I am here now is because of Bill.

"I was kind of shocked by what transpired there."

"Under no conditions would I be interested in the position if the track program were going to be curtailed and brought down to a place where it would not be competitive with the rest of the mid-western universities," Timmons was quoted as saying.

The first game that saw four triples and six stolen bases was won by Hastings 6-4. The second game had three doubles, three triples and eight stolen bases and was won by Wesleyan 6-5.

Hastings hurler Jim Livingston allowed nine hits in the first game, but was saved in the bottom of the third inning when his team erupted with a four-run, four-hit attack.

Wesleyan pitcher Charles Morrison had to put down a seventh inning rally to win the second game 6-5.

State PTA Continues Broadened Tax Stand

A resolution that the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers "continue its efforts for a broadened tax base in all of its aspects" and urge State Senators to vote for LB797 and LB472 was passed here Friday over some opposition.

Balloting on resolutions at the close of the NCPT convention Friday resulted in delegate approval of proposed legislation which will provide foundation and equalizing aid to qualifying school districts and establish the principle of an equitable system of taxation for Nebraska.

Two other resolutions dealing with libraries and public funds for public education were passed unanimously at the convention, according to Mrs. Harold Steyer, publicity chairman.

One resolved that "the membership of the Nebraska Congress be concerned and initiate action to increase library services in all schools," pointing out that "54% of Nebraska school children now lack a school library."

The other unanimously passed resolution stated that LB382 is "the first inroad in Nebraska" of the NCPT position opposing the diversion of any public funds "either directly or indirectly to private schools."

The convention "resolved that the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers will make every effort to maintain our policy that public funds be used for public schools."

S.D. Plane Crash Victims Identified

Rapid City, S.D. (AP)— Ellsworth Air Force Base officials identified Friday two Air Force officers killed in a plane crash in western South Dakota.

Victims of the crash Thursday near Hermosa, S.D., were Capt. Warren Pierce, Graham, Tex., and Capt. Gale Moneyhon, Augusta, Ky.

The two were flying a private plane owned by the Aero Club at Ellsworth AFB. Hermosa is about 20 miles south of Rapid City and Ellsworth.

Local Man Gets Two Years For Bad Check

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Friday sentenced a Lincoln man to two years in the Nebraska Penal Complex on a no-fund check charge.

Max E. Perkins, 38, of 1903 No. 27th had pleaded guilty to issuing a $15 no-fund check Dec. 3, 1964.

State PTA Continues Broadened Tax Stand

A resolution that the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers "continue its efforts for a broadened tax base in all of its aspects" and urge State Senators to vote for LB797 and LB472 was passed here Friday over some opposition.

Balloting on resolutions at the close of the NCPT convention Friday resulted in delegate approval of proposed legislation which will provide foundation and equalizing aid to qualifying school districts and establish the principle of an equitable system of taxation for Nebraska.

Two other resolutions dealing with libraries and public funds for public education were passed unanimously at the convention, according to Mrs. Harold Steyer, publicity chairman.

One resolved that "the membership of the Nebraska Congress be concerned and initiate action to increase library services in all schools," pointing out that "54% of Nebraska school children now lack a school library."

The other unanimously passed resolution stated that LB382 is "the first inroad in Nebraska" of the NCPT position opposing the diversion of any public funds "either directly or indirectly to private schools."

The convention "resolved that the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers will make every effort to maintain our policy that public funds be used for public schools."

S.D. Plane Crash Victims Identified

Rapid City, S.D. (AP)— Ellsworth Air Force Base officials identified Friday two Air Force officers killed in a plane crash in western South Dakota.

Victims of the crash Thursday near Hermosa, S.D., were Capt. Warren Pierce, Graham, Tex., and Capt. Gale Moneyhon, Augusta, Ky.

The two were flying a private plane owned by the Aero Club at Ellsworth AFB. Hermosa is about 20 miles south of Rapid City and Ellsworth.

Local Man Gets Two Years For Bad Check

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Friday sentenced a Lincoln man to two years in the Nebraska Penal Complex on a no-fund check charge.

Max E. Perkins, 38, of 1908 No. 27th had pleaded guilty to issuing a $15 no-fund check Dec. 3, 1964.

Grain Market Resists, But Loses Broad

Chicago (AP) — The grain futures market resisted selling pressure a little more effectively at times Friday but not enought to prevent further broad losses in some contracts.

Setbacks in old crop soybean ranged to well over 2 cents a bushel while May wheat slipped another cent or so to within a fraction of its season low. Other contracts were slightly firmer to slightly easier in generally dull dealings. September and December old standard wheat and all rye deliveries again traded at season lows.

A fairly active commercial demand for corn, largely on export accounts maintained steady prices for corn and the No. 2 grade yellow sold at $1.36¼ in the cash market, the highest since October 1963.

Soybeans were unchanged to 2⅜ cents a bushel lower at the close. May $2.97¼-¾; wheat 1⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.47½-⅝; corn unchanged to ¼ higher, May $1.33⅜-½; oats ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, May 72¾ cents; rye unchanged to ¼ lower, May $1.17½.

Stock Market Chugs On To New Records

New York (AP) — The stock market chugged ahead haltingly Friday and made new records in some averages because they already were at historic high levels. Trading was active.

Volume was 5.89 million shares compared with 5.99 million Thursday.

The list rose from the start and reached its highest level around mid-session. Thereafter, gains were pared somewhat.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up as much as 3.70 at 11:30 p.m. CST—but cut this gain to 2.35 by the close, nevertheless posting a historic closing high of 916.41.

The big financial event of the day was Chrysler's offering to subscribe to 5,611,360 shares of its common stock at $18 a share, at the rate of one share for each seven shares held of record Friday.

Chrysler common was steady to a little higher at the start of trading but gradually wilted. It closed with a loss of 1 at 54⅞ on turnover of 120,200 shares, making it the most active issue.

The Chrysler stock rights began trading at noon on a transaction of 500,000 at 1⅛. The rights closed at $1 even, on total turnover of 120,300 shares.

The softness in Chrysler common was ascribed generally to the fact that the added 5.6 million shares of stock will dilute the issue to that extent and that earnings per share, already lower than Wall Streeters had expected, will decline in proportion to the number of additional shares—a technicality but of interest to traders and investors.

Of the 15 most active stocks, gainers and losers were even at 6-all, with 3 unchanged.

Of the 1,372 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchanges, gainers totaled 600 and losers 497. New highs for the year totaled 153 and new lows 14.

Standard & Poor's 50-stock index made its second straight daily high, rising .10 to 88.88.

The industrial component of The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .3 to a record high, but rails were down .6 and utilities .1, with the result that the entire 60-stock average was off .2 to 338.8.

Prices moved irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 2.37 million shares compared with 2.42 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds rose. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Quinn's Motion For New Trial Gets Overruled

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Friday overruled a motion for a new trial for Roy Quinn, found guilty last month of one count of shooting with intent to wound, kill or maim.

Quinn, 48, of 3713 No. 49th, was charged in connection with the Oct. 26 shooting of the then Mrs. Twila R. Quincy, who married Quinn in December, 1964. Mrs. Quinn was wounded in both legs and injuries necessitated the amputation of one leg.

Judge Scheele set May 6 for sentencing Quinn.

Quinn was acquitted by a Lancaster District Court jury of a second charge of shooting with intent to wound, kill or maim Claude D. Lovelace, 30, of 2611 Y. Loveloce was not hit.

Hruska Sponsors Bill For Outside Prisoner Work

Washington (UPI) — Sens. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., and Roman Hruska, R-Neb., introduced legislation Friday which would allow selected federal prisoners to hold daytime jobs outside the prison.

Long is chairman and Hruska the ranking Republican on the Senate subcommittee on national penitentiaries.

The "work-release" proposal was part of the legislation introduced by Long and Hruska. It was sent to Congress by the administration.

The "work-release" plan would be limited to prisoners committed for non-violent crimes and considered rehabilitated enough for employment in nearby cities. They would return to the prison at night.

Another feature of the legislation would be assignment of prisioners to community residential treatment centers prior to parole.

Grain Market Resists, But Loses Broad

Chicago (AP) — The grain futures market resisted selling pressure a little more effectively at times Friday but not enought to prevent further broad losses in some contracts.

Setbacks in old crop soybean ranged to well over 2 cents a bushel while May wheat slipped another cent or so to within a fraction of its season low. Other contracts were slightly firmer to slightly easier in generally dull dealings. September and December old standard wheat and all rye deliveries again traded at season lows.

A fairly active commercial demand for corn, largely on export accounts maintained steady prices for corn and the No. 2 grade yellow sold at $1.36¼ in the cash market, the highest since October 1963.

Stock Market Chugs On To New Records

New York (AP) — The stock market chugged ahead haltingly Friday and made new records in some averages because they already were at historic high levels. Trading was active.

Volume was 5.89 million shares compared with 5.99 million Thursday.

The list rose from the start and reached its highest level around mid-session. Thereafter, gains were pared somewhat.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up as much as 3.70 at 11:30 p.m. CST—but cut this gain to 2.35 by the close, nevertheless posting a historic closing high of 916.41.

The big financial event of the day was Chrysler's offering to subscribe to 5,611,360 shares of its common stock at $48 a share, at the rate of one share for each seven shares held of record Friday.

Chrysler common was steady to a little higher at the start of trading but gradually wilted. It closed with a loss of 1 at 54⅞ on turnover of 120,200 shares, making it the most active issue.

The Chrysler stock rights began trading at noon on a transaction of 500,000 at 1⅛. The rights closed at $1 even, on total turnover of 120,300 shares.

The softness in Chrysler common was ascribed generally to the fact that the added 5.6 million shares of stock will dilute the issue to that extent and that earnings per share, already lower than Wall Streeters had expected, will decline in proportion to the number of additional shares—a technicality but of interest to traders and investors.

Of the 15 most active stocks, gainers and losers were even at 6-all, with 3 unchanged.

Of the 1,372 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchanges, gainers totaled 600 and losers 497. New highs for the year totaled 153 and new lows 14.

Standard & Poor's 50-stock index made its second straight daily high, rising .10 to 88.88.

The industrial component of The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .3 to a record high, but rails were down .6 and utilities .1, with the result that the entire 60-stock average was off .2 to 338.8.

Prices moved irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 2.37 million shares compared with 2.42 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds rose. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Quinn's Motion For New Trial Gets Overruled

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Friday overruled a motion for a new trial for Roy Quinn, found guilty last month of one count of shooting with intent to wound, kill or maim.

Quinn, 48, of 3713 No. 49th, was charged in connection with the Oct. 26 shooting of the then Mrs. Twila R. Quincy, who married Quinn in December, 1964. Mrs. Quinn was wounded in both legs and injuries necessitated the amputation of one leg.

Judge Scheele set May 6 for sentencing Quinn.

Quinn was acquitted by a Lancaster District Court jury of a second charge of shooting with intent to wound, kill or maim Claude D. Lovelace, 30, of 2611 Y. Loveloce was not hit.

Washington (UPI) — Sens. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., and Roman Hruska, R-Neb., introduced legislation Friday which would allow selected federal prisoners to hold daytime jobs outside the prison.

Long is chairman and Hruska the ranking Republican on the Senate subcommittee on national penitentiaries.

The "work-release" proposal was part of the legislation introduced by Long and Hruska. It was sent to Congress by the administration.

The "work-release" plan would be limited to prisoners committed for non-violent crimes and considered rehabilitated enough for employment in nearby cities. They would return to the prison at night.

Another feature of the legislation would be assignment of prisoners to community residential treatment centers prior to parole.

REAs Urge Senate OK Exemption From FPC

Washington (AP)— Witnesses representing rural electrification cooperatives urged the Senate Commerce Committee Friday to approve a bill exempting them from Federal Power Commission regulation.

They argued such a bill simply would reinforce present law. But, they contended, the FPC is disregarding the law and attempting to exercise control over their activities.

They testified also that FPC regulation would place a burden on them which would inevitably lead to higher costs for their farmer members.

Distribution Exemption

FPC Chairman Joseph C. Swidler testified Thursday that his agency was willing to support a bill which would exempt from regulation all distribution activities of the REAS.

But he said those which sell large blocs of power at wholesale, such as some generating and transmission co-ops, should be under FPC regulation.

Alex Radin, general manager of the American Public Power Association, told the committee that activities of the generating and transmission co-ops have "provided co-ops with an alternative to reliance on private power companies, and consequently caused companies to offer power at reasonable rates and under equitable conditions of service.

"Response to the private power companies to the G&T loan program has been a long series of actions aimed at killing or crippling this activity."

Floyd E. Wheeler, appearing for Dairyland Power Cooperative, which operates in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois, said the co-ops already are effectively regulated by the Rural Electrification Administration.

Henry G. Templeton, manager of the Harmon Electric Association of Hollis, Okla., said, "The owner-consumer interest inherent" in the REAS "renders federal regulation by FPC entirely unnecessary."

Sprague-Martell Is Warned To Form Own Fire District

Lancaster County Commissioners warned Sprague-Martell area residents here Friday night that unless they took some immediate action, the county board would have to rule on a petition submitted last fall by Highland area citizens seeking to establish a rural fire district.

Commissioner William Grossman said that unless the Sprague-Martell area acts soon to form their own fire don't see how we can turn district or join another, "I don't see how we can turn down Highland's legal petition."

The county board has been holding any action on the petition because it does not include some 24 sections around Denton and Sprague-Martell and would leave them legally unprotected. However, the area excluded from the petition does not constitute a sufficient number of sections (36 are required) to form a rural fire district.

Commissioner Ralph Harlan called the informal meeting of representatives from Southwest, Hickman, Hallam and Crete fire districts to find a solution for the unprotected areas. Highland district was not present but previously had informed the commissioners that it would accept any petitions for protection from the Sprague-Martell residents, according to Harlan.

The other districts also reported that they would not reject any petitions, but added that some areas would be beyond the distance to which they could give "the protection deserved."

Attorney Jack Craven indicated that the Highland district would probably contract with Crete for fire protection.

The Southwest district has offered to the entire Denton-Highland - Sprague - Martell area and put new trucks in Denton and either Sprague or Martell, but this plan was previously opposed by the Highland district.

Attorney Rollin Bailey asked the commissioners for more time to "develop ideas that have come out in the meeting," after the county commissioners strongly urged Sprague-Martell area residents to take some action soon so that the sections would not be left unprotected.

North Bend Sets Czech Program

North Bend — The North Bend Czech Class of '65 has completed its plans for its second Czech spectacular which will be presented to the public at the City Auditorium in North Bend on Sunday.

Music by an oldtime Czech band will set the mood for the program at 6:30 p.m.

The "Beseda" traditional dance of the Czechs will be done by groups from both Wilber and Clarkson.

The entertainment at North Bend will be the first of the season in a series of Czech spectaculars and festivals by surrounding towns in eastern Nebraska. Most of the participants will dress in costume similar to that which was worn by Czech peasants about a century ago.

LESLIE D. ASHLEY

Female Impersonator Found Among 10 Most Wanted Men

Atlanta (UPI)—Female impersonator Leslie Douglas Ashley, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, was arrested Friday working as a "clown" at a carnival. He had escaped from a Texas mental hospital where he was confined as criminally insane.

The FBI said Ashley was working in a side show where customers paid a quarter to throw baseballs at a target. When they hit the bullseye, Ashley was dumped from a platform into a vat of water.

Ashley and Carolyn Ann Lima, both of Houston, were convicted and sentenced to death for the February, 1961, murder of Houston real estate man Fred A. Tones.

The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans reversed the convictions, four hours before they were to be executed. Miss Lima was subsequently retried and sentenced to five years. She was released from prison April 3 with time off for good behavior.

Ashley was later declared insane, although sane at the time of the crime, and sent to the San Antonio Mental Hospital where he escaped Oct. 6, 1964.

At Austin, Tex., officials said Ashley might be returned directly to Houston to face a new murder trial.

He was being held in the mental hospital until such time as he could be tried as a sane person.

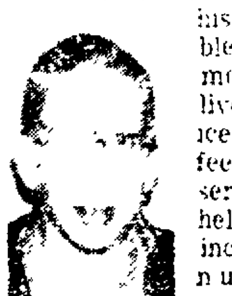
Meet Star Carrier Gerald Ehler



Gerald

Gerald Ehler took over management of his newspaper route in Beatrice less than six months ago. He knows that his customers appreciate his dependable, early morning delivery service and he feels this service has helped him to increase the number of customers he serves. Gerald has increased his list of satisfied customers by nearly 40% since taking over his route last November. Needless to say, Gerald is really enjoying the increased profits from his route. He puts a regular portion of this profit into his growing savings account.

Becoming a minister like his father is Gerald's goal in the future. He plans to attend an eastern college after graduation from high school and knows the money he saves now will come in mighty handy at college.

Being an active youngster, Gerald has learned to budget his time to provide for church, school, sports and his newspaper route. His parents, Rev. and Mrs. Robert S. Ehler highly recommend newspaper routes for boys. They feel the business training and experience has been very beneficial to Gerald.

Any young man interested in carrying the morning Lincoln Star newspaper route should write to the State Carrier Department of the Lincoln Star in Lincoln, Nebraska 68501.

Morrison Claims Industry Results From Detroit Trip

Gov. Frank Morrison, upon his return from Detroit, where he and other Nebraskans attempted to attract industry to the Cornhusker state, said Friday Nebraska will realize industrial gains within a year because of the trip.

He said that one industry told him it will locate in the state and another industry indicated it will expand its present operations at Beatrice.

He did not identify either.

"These developments should come within a year," he said.

He said the full impact of the trip will not be known for a number of years.

Three New Trustees At St. James

The quarterly conference elects officers and hears reports of the various church commission activities during the past year, according to St. James minister, the Rev. Mr. Clarence Campbell.

Stewards elected Friday include Richard Fulmer, Wesley Reifschneider, Wayne Schroeder. Carl Taylor also reelected chairman of the commission on missions, Mrs. William Bodkin also chosen recording secretary of the quarterly conference, Darl James.

Howard Seuferer also elected chairman of the commission on membership and evangelism, Dale Orndorff, Joe Miller, Paul McLarty, Mrs. Al Weston also re-elected financial secretary, Mrs. Earl Boechner also elected hospital and homes steward, and Bud Yant.

REAs Urge Senate OK Exemption From FPC

Washington (AP)— Witnesses representing rural electrification cooperatives urged the Senate Commerce Committee Friday to approve a bill exempting them from Federal Power Commission regulation.

They argued such a bill simply would reinforce present law. But, they contended, the FPC is disregarding the law and attempting to exercise control over their activities.

They testified also that FPC regulation would place a burden on them which would inevitably lead to higher costs for their farmer members.

Distribution Exemption

FPC Chairman Joseph C. Swidler testified Thursday that his agency was willing to support a bill which would exempt from regulation all distribution activities of the REAS.

But he said those which sell large blocs of power at wholesale, such as some generating and transmission co-ops, should be under FPC regulation.

Alex Radin, general manager of the American Public Power Association, told the committee that activities of the generating and transmission co-ops have "provided co-ops with an alternative to reliance on private power companies, and consequently caused companies to offer power at reasonable rates and under equitable conditions of service.

"Response to the private power companies to the G&T loan program has been a long series of actions aimed at killing or crippling this activity."

Floyd E. Wheeler, appearing for Dairyland Power Cooperative, which operates in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois, said the co-ops already are effectively regulated by the Rural Electrification Administration.

Henry G. Templeton, manager of the Harmon Electric Association of Hollis, Okla., said, "The owner-consumer interest inherent" in the REAS "renders federal regulation by FPC entirely unnecessary."

Sprague-Martell Is Warned To Form Own Fire District

Lancaster County Commissioners warned Sprague-Martell area residents here Friday night that unless they took some immediate action, the county board would have to rule on a petition submitted last fall by Highland area citizens seeking to establish a rural fire district.

Commissioner William Grossman said that unless the Sprague-Martell area acts soon to form their own fire don't see how we can turn district or join another, "I don't see how we can turn down Highland's legal petition."

The county board has been holding any action on the petition because it does not include some 24 sections around Denton and Sprague-Martell and would leave them legally unprotected. However, the area excluded from the petition does not constitute a sufficient number of sections (36 are required) to form a rural fire district.

Commissioner Ralph Harlan called the informal meeting of representatives from Southwest, Hickman, Hallam and Crete fire districts to find a solution for the unprotected areas. Highland district was not present but previously had in formed the commissioners that it would accept any petitions for protection from the Sprague-Martell residents, according to Harlan.

The other districts also reported that they would not reject any petitions, but added that some areas would be beyond the distance to which they could give "the protection deserved."

Attorney Jack Craven indicated that the Highland district would probably contract with Crete for fire protection.

The Southwest district has offered to the entire Denton-Highland - Sprague - Martell area and put new trucks in Denton and either Sprague or Martell, but this plan was previously opposed by the Highland district.

Attorney Rollin Bailey asked the commissioners for more time to "develop ideas that have come out in the meeting," after the county commissioners strongly urged Sprague-Martell area residents to take some action soon so that the sections would not be left unprotected.

North Bend Sets Czech Program

North Bend — The North Bend Czech Class of '65 has completed its plans for its second Czech spectacular which will be presented to the public at the City Auditorium in North Bend on Sunday.

Music by an oldtime Czech band will set the mood for the program at 6:30 p.m.

The "Beseda" traditional dance of the Czechs will be done by groups from both Wilber and Clarkson.

The entertainment at North Bend will be the first of the season in a series of Czech spectaculars and festivals by surrounding towns in eastern Nebraska. Most of the participants will dress in costume similar to that which was worn by Czech peasants about a century ago.

LESLIE D. ASHLEY

Female Impersonator Found Among 10 Most Wanted Men

Atlanta (UPI)—Female impersonator Leslie Douglas Ashley, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, was arrested Friday working as a "clown" at a carnival. He had escaped from a Texas mental hospital where he was confined as criminally insane.

The FBI said Ashley was working in a side show where customers paid a quarter to throw baseballs at a target. When they hit the bullseye, Ashley was dumped from a platform into a vat of water.

Ashley and Carolyn Ann Lima, both of Houston, were convicted and sentenced to death for the February, 1961, murder of Houston real estate man Fred A. Tones.

The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans reversed the convictions, four hours before they were to be executed. Miss Lima was subsequently retried and sentenced to five years. She was released from prison April 3 with time off for good behavior.

Ashley was later declared insane, although sane at the time of the crime, and sent to the San Antonio Mental Hospital where he escaped Oct. 6, 1964.

At Austin, Tex., officials said Ashley might be returned directly to Houston to face a new murder trial.

He was being held in the mental hospital until such time as he could be tried as a sane person.

Meet Star Carrier Gerald Ehler

Gerald Ehler took over management of his newspaper route in Beatrice less than six months ago. He knows that his customers appreciate his dependable, early morning delivery service and he feels this service has helped him to increase the number of customers he serves. Gerald has increased his list of satisfied customers by nearly 40% since taking over his route last November. Needless to say, Gerald is really enjoying the increased profits from his route. He puts a regular portion of this profit into his growing savings account.

Gerald

Becoming a minister like his father is Gerald's goal in the future. He plans to attend an eastern college after graduation from high school and knows the money he saves now will come in mighty handy at college.

Being an active youngster, Gerald has learned to budget his time to provide for church, school, sports and his newspaper route. His parents, Rev. and Mrs. Robert S. Ehler highly recommend newspaper routes for boys. They feel the business training and experience has been very beneficial to Gerald.

Any young man interested in carrying the morning Lincoln Star newspaper route should write to the State Carrier Department of the Lincoln Star in Lincoln, Nebraska 68501.

Stewards elected Friday include Richard Fulmer, Wesley Reifschneider, Wayne Schroeder, Carl Taylor also reelected chairman of the commission on missions, Mrs. William Bodkin also chosen recording secretary of the quarterly conference, Darl James.

Howard Seuferer also elected chairman of the commission on membership and evangelism, Dale Orndorff, Joe Miller, Paul McLarty, Mrs. Al Weston also re-elected financial secretary, Mrs. Earl Boechner also elected hospital and homes steward, and Bud Yant.

Morrison Claims Industry Results From Detroit Trip

Gov. Frank Morrison, upon his return from Detroit, where he and other Nebraskans attempted to attract industry to the Cornhusker state, said Friday Nebraska will realize industrial gains within a year because of the trip.

He said that one industry told him it will locate in the state and another industry indicated it will expand its present operations at Beatrice.

He did not identify either.

"These developments should come within a year," he said.

He said the full impact of the trip will not be known for a number of years.

Strategic Sikkim At Crossroads

Gangtok, Sikkim (AP)—The strategically located kingdom of Sikkim stands at a crossroads.

Shrewd statesmanship by Maharaja Palden Thondup Namgyal and his American-born queen, the former Hope Cooke of Boston and New York, is needed to steer their 2,818-square-mile Himalayan state through national and international complexities.

In foreign affairs, Sikkim is pressed by two giant neighbors: Communist China on the north, India on the south.

Domestic Rumbles

At home, there are distinct rumblings against the maharaja's absolute rule and the 18th-century economy with which Sikkim faces the 20th century.

Under a 1950 treaty, India is in complete charge of Sikkim's defense, foreign affairs and communications. The state looks like an army camp, with Indian troops everywhere.

Peking's army is strongly entrenched in Red-ruled Tibet north and east of Sikkim, especially in the important Chumbi Valley. This finger of Chinese-held territory points south at West Bengal, a narrow neck of land connecting India's eastern Assam state with the rest of the country.

Sikkim also is uncomfortable about the presence of so many Indian troops and chafes a bit at India's "big brother" attitude.

The maharaja told a reporter he would like the 1950 treaty with India revised but declined to go into details.

Indians Wary

The Indian government is wary of this talk, saying it is not prepared to go any further than, perhaps, doing away with "protectorate" as a description of Sikkim.

"Protectorate," the Indians acknowledge, smacks of "imperialism" and is hardly a word to be used these days. But there is no intention to let the maharaja become truly independent.

"It would be suicidal," an Indian spokesman said, "to let a small state like Sikkim, lying on the highway from inimical Communist China, become independent."

Budget Work To Get Study By Morrison

Governor Morrison Friday declined specific comment on the first major recommendations of the Legislature's Budget Committee, but noted that the budget package was "generally in accord with my recommendations."

Morrison said the budget was "probably the most conservatiive of any of the 50 states."

The committee's recommendations for the University of Nebraska, the four state colleges, and the State Education, Welfare and Institutions Departments were released Thursday on the floor of the Legislature.

The budget bill, which did not include capital construction, was about $3.6 million below what the governor had recommended.

"In some areas they cut a little bit, and in others they increased a little," Morrison said.

He said he would study the committee recommendations and then confer with university and college officials and the budget committee "before making any statements."

"I'm not fully qualified at the moment to make a comprehensive evaluation," the governor said.

He added: "My comments don't mean very much until I put in many weeks of study on the minimal needs of the various agencies.

Snow Cuts Rural Traffic Volume Down In March

Blizzards and snow storms caused a slight reduction in traffic on Nebraska's rural roads during March, a spot check of rural traffic volume by the State Roads Department showed Friday.

The report said March rural traffic dropped one per cent from the traffic during the same month in 1964 and only six of 22 roads checked registered increased traffic volumes when compared to the same month last year.

A 49% traffic increase was registered on the interstate highway east of the Overton junction and a 27% increase on the county road east of Pickrell.

Large drops in traffic showed on U.S. 30 west of Elm Creek, U.S. 34 at the Nebraska-Colorado line and U.S. 6 at the Nebraska-Colorado line.

While traffic dropped from the same month a year ago, it increased nine per cent from the previous month, which is about normal.

The department said gallons of motor fuel taxed during February totaled 36,156,864, a decrease of 14% from the gallons taxed during February of last year.

Iva Kirby Dies; Former Lincolnite

Graveside services will be held at Wyuka Cemetery here at 4:30 p.m. Saturday for Iva Kirby, a former Lincoln resident who died in Blair Thursday.

While in Lincoln, Miss Kirby was employed by the State Banking Department and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. She was a member of the First Christian Church and a number of professional and social clubs while here.

Surviving are a brother, Edward, and two sisters, Mrs. Martha Tripp and Mrs. Mary Howard of Blair.

DAR Traces LBJ Lineage To Revolutionary Soldier

Washington (UPI) — The Daughters of the American Revolution ended their 74th annual convention Friday with more of a whisper than a bang.

Devoid of controversy, the DAR's five-day Continental Congress closed with the inauguration of a new president general—Mrs. William Henry Sullivan Jr.—and a trip to the White House with a gift for President Johnson.

The delegates gave Mrs. Johnson copies of a genealogy table proving that the President is descended from an American Revolutionary soldier.

According to Mrs. Albert Boyd Whitley, national chairman of the DAR lineage research committee, the President earned his credentials from Robert Desha, the son of a French Huguenot, who served as a private in Capt. John Boyle's company of Virginia.

As a fringle benefit, the lineage table also showed that the Johnsons are related to Mary Desha, one of the founders of the DAR.

In her brief inaugural speech, Mrs. Sullivan promised the DAR that her administration would "strive to promote the moral and religious principles on which this nationwas founded."

Unlike previous years, the 4,000 delegates did not get into floor fights over resolutions. They adopted 12, including a call for more history courses in the classroom and a condemnation of disarmament negotiations.

Father, Son Charged In Damage Suit

A $27,230 damage suit was filed in Lancaster District Court Friday against Roscoe A. Benton and his son, Kenneth A. Benton, in connection with a June 4, 1964, accident.

Kathleen J. Streka alleges negligence on the part of Kenneth Benton, driver of the car owned by his father, when it collided with the Streka vehicle at 53rd and M.

Strategic Sikkim At Crossroads

Gangtok, Sikkim (AP)—The strategically located kingdom of Sikkim stands at a crossroads.

Shrewd statesmanship by Maharaja Palden Thondup Namgyal and his American-born queen, the former Hope Cooke of Boston and New York, is needed to steer their 2,818-square-mile Himalayan state through national and international complexities.

In foreign affairs, Sikkim is pressed by two giant neighbors: Communist China on the north, India on the south.

Domestic Rumbles

At home, there are distinct rumblings against the maharaja's absolute rule and the 18th-century economy with which Sikkim faces the 20th century.

Under a 1950 treaty, India is in complete charge of Sikkim's defense, foreign affairs and communications. The state looks like an army camp, with Indian troops everywhere.

Peking's army is strongly entrenched in Red-ruled Tibet north and east of Sikkim, especially in the important Chumbi Valley. This finger of Chinese-held territory points south at West Bengal, a narrow neck of land connecting India's eastern Assam state with the rest of the country.

Sikkim also is uncomfortable about the presence of so many Indian troops and chafes a bit at India's "big brother" attitude.

The maharaja told a reporter he would like the 1950 treaty with India revised but declined to go into details.

Indians Wary

The Indian government is wary of this talk, saying it is not prepared to go any further than, perhaps, doing away with "protectorate" as a description of Sikkim.

"Protectorate," the Indians acknowledge, smacks of "imperialism" and is hardly a word to be used these days. But there is no intention to let the maharaja become truly independent.

"It would be suicidal," an Indian spokesman said, "to let a small state like Sikkim, lying on the highway from inimical Communist China, become independent."

Budget Work To Get Study By Morrison

Governor Morrison Friday declined specific comment on the first major recommendations of the Legislature's Budget Committee, but noted that the budget package was "generally in accord with my recommendations."

Morrison said the budget was "probably the most conservatiive of any of the 50 states."

The committee's recommendations for the University of Nebraska, the four state colleges, and the State Education, Welfare and Institutions Departments were released Thursday on the floor of the Legislature.

The budget bill, which did not include capital construction, was about $3.6 million below what the governor had recommended.

"In some areas they cut a little bit, and in others they increased a little," Morrison said.

He said he would study the committee recommendations and then confer with university and college officials and the budget committee "before making any statements."

"I'm not fully qualified at the moment to make a comprehensive evaluation," the governor said.

He added: "My comments don't mean very much until I put in many weeks of study on the minimal needs of the various agencies.

Snow Cuts Rural Traffic Volume Down In March

Blizzards and snow storms caused a slight reduction in traffic on Nebraska's rural roads during March, a spot check of rural traffic volume by the State Roads Department showed Friday.

The report said March rural traffic dropped one per cent from the traffic during the same month in 1964 and only six of 22 roads checked registered increased traffic volumes when compared to the same month last year.

A 49% traffic increase was registered on the interstate highway east of the Overton junction and a 27% increase on the county road east of Pickrell.

Large drops in traffic showed on U.S. 30 west of Elm Creek, U.S. 34 at the Nebraska-Colorado line and U.S. 6 at the Nebraska-Colorado line.

While traffic dropped from the same month a year ago, it increased nine per cent from the previous month, which is about normal.

The department said gallons of motor fuel taxed during February totaled 36,156,864, a decrease of 14% from the gallons taxed during February of last year.

Iva Kirby Dies; Former Lincolnite

Graveside services will be held at Wyuka Cemetery here at 4:30 p.m. Saturday for Iva Kirby, a former Lincoln resident who died in Blair Thursday.

While in Lincoln, Miss Kirby was employed by the State Banking Department and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. She was a member of the First Christian Church and a number of professional and social clubs while here.

Surviving are a brother, Edward, and two sisters, Mrs. Martha Tripp and Mrs. Mary Howard of Blair.

DAR Traces LBJ Lineage To Revolutionary Soldier

Washington (UPI) — The Daughters of the American Revolution ended their 74th annual convention Friday with more of a whisper than a bang.

Devoid of controversy, the DAR's five-day Continental Congress closed with the inauguration of a new president general—Mrs. William Henry Sullivan Jr.—and a trip to the White House with a gift for President Johnson.

The delegates gave Mrs. Johnson copies of a genealogy table proving that the President is descended from an American Revolutionary soldier.

According to Mrs. Albert Boyd Whitley, national chairman of the DAR lineage research committee, the President earned his credentials from Robert Desha, the son of a French Huguenot, who served as a private in Capt. John Boyle's company of Virginia.

As a fringle benefit, the lineage table also showed that the Johnsons are related to Mary Desha, one of the founders of the DAR.

In her brief inaugural speech, Mrs. Sullivan promised the DAR that her administration would "strive to promote the moral and religious principles on which this nationwas founded."

Unlike previous years, the 4,000 delegates did not get into floor fights over resolutions. They adopted 12, including a call for more history courses in the classroom and a condemnation of disarmament negotiations.

Father, Son Charged In Damage Suit

A $27,230 damage suit was filed in Lancaster District Court Friday against Roscoe A. Benton and his son, Kenneth A. Benton, in connection with a June 4, 1964, accident.

Kathleen J. Streka alleges negligence on the part of Kenneth Benton, driver of the car owned by his father, when it collided with the Streka vehicle at 53rd and M.
